TO THE PUBLIC, GREETING :

Herewith is presented THE ASHEVILLE CITY DIRECTORY AND BUSINESS REFLEX ; descriptive and illustrative of its representative business men, together with an epitome of its manufacturing, commercial and industrial progress, including its natural and acquired attractions as a health and pleasure resort.

In presenting this issue to the public, the writer, sensible of the encouragement and support he has received in a work of this character, occupying nearly four months of continuous labor, takes this opportunity to acknowledge his indebtedness to those who in any way assisted him in compiling and publishing it ; and to the public for their very generous and hearty support.

To the whole-souled Mayor of Asheville, and to its business men, unequalled in any city of its size for energy and audacious enterprise and broad liberality, to the prosperous up-builders of its splendid schools, manufactories, mercantile establishments, charming health resorts and beautiful homes, and to the daily and weekly press, whose kindly words of cheer and encouragement have given impetus to the enterprise, and to our friends and patrons at large, this work is respectfully dedicated.

Asheville, North Carolina,

The Queen City of the Mountains, and Beyond Peradventure the Gem City and Metropolis of this Great, Charming Combine—A Domain of Fashionable People, Social Culture and Refinement—A City of Magnificent Resources, Natural and Acquired Advantages as a Health and Pleasure Resort.

An impulse of energy and capital from the North and East along the highlands of the Southern region, marks the closing years of the ninth decade of the century of progress, which is remarkable not only because of its spontaneity, but because also it has been so long deferred.

That favorite field of exploitation, the boundless West, has of late years exhibited reactionary tendencies. It no longer yields its un-failing tribute of profit to the confident investor and thus of thousands of those who have suffered the rigors of its prolonged winters are held simply by their inability to convert their hard won possessions into portable shape. There is an overplus of cereals and under supply of metals. So it comes that the vast repositories of ores and coals in the mountains of the Carolinas, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Georgia and Alabama long since known to the world, at least by rumor, are now laid under tribute. The bearer of the theodolite are busy striking lines of approach for numerous railroads athwart the broad areas known to be rich in workable ores. For the first time in thirty years the balance of railroad construction has been during the year just passed, in favor of the Southern States. Almost forgotten schemes for connections, extensions and terminals of long existing lines have been revived and put under way. There is in brief, activity everywhere—hence these remarks by way of prelude, in which we will outline many of the advantages of our section which should stimulate workmen, business men and capitalists to a more liberal policy of treatment upon the attractions of our beautiful City and Queenland.

Asheville, combined with her surrounding mountain attractions and acquired resources, is destined in a few years to contrast and outrival in popularity all the natural grandeur or acquired beauty of Switzerland. Standing pre-eminent in comparison with the Eiffel tower, of national fame, and as grand and undulating as the foaming splendor of the beautiful and billowy waves of the broad Atlantic, thence we gather upon the threshold of this mighty city of education and modern civilization, commanding from its towering and lofty peaks the dazzling and enchanting view of the chain of the grand Southern Appalachian range, among whose majestic mountains stands Asheville, the Queen City of the Mountains, the proud and advancing city of this Southland, and the admiration of a multitude of shrewd and progressive people of this distended, far-seeing, ingenious and united kingdom. We are unable—surely it is inadequate—to rightly portray with human tongue or pen the manifold attractions she proclaims, which challenge comparison for inducements to capitalists, manufacturers, health and pleasure seekers, and for diversity of mountain grandeur and picturesque sublimity, with the indescribable beauteous presentation of river and valley scenic attractions is not surpassed in the world. Less than two decades ago Asheville, unknown, inert and isolated, now represents one of the most popular and widely known cities of its size in the United States, whose climatic conditions outrules and surpasses for general healthfulness the European resorts of Genoa, Milan, Turin and glorious Vienna, and any atmosphere yet explored or analyzed by strategic research or in the scale of human development.

Truly this is the place for gods and divines to luxuriate within by enhancing their longevity in breathing pure air, feasting upon couches of delicious splendor, feeding upon choice and dainty viands, which stands meet and irresistible to all good and cultured people. Hence we say, come with us, invest in our city, buy property, build you a home, co-operate with us in goodness, probity and justice. To all this, with our combine of advantages, we will make you rise to affluence, and dispel your intention of gathering fortune and fame from the occidental region which offers less solid inducements than our proud and sunny Southland. Come to our electric city, for it is folly to search elsewhere for greater treasures than ours. Wealth, progress, success, power and riches all stand open and eager to be grafted and handed down to those of energy and ambition to win.

To repeat, the attractions offered to the health and pleasure seeker are not surpassed in America. The ever-changing scenery and beautiful driveways from one to twenty miles are, without question, noticeable—some of the most peerless in the world—and our healthful suburban homes here at the close of the day's business and worry. Wearied humanity, longing for quiet and undisturbed repose from care and toil, can find that soothing rest that restores mental tranquility, invigorates the system and places it in a condition to withstand the cares and ceaseless annoyances of everyday life. To repeat, the romantic river and mountain scenery of this section are without rivals in the world. For instance, the views obtained between the Metropolis and Hot Springs, a distance of perhaps forty miles over the Richmond and Danville Railroad traveling all along the waters' edge or the beautiful French Broad is a scene of rare delight, royal grandeur, and matchless panoramic beauty. In the valley the swift flight of trains coming and going can be traced the advancing and receding columns of steam and smoke lingering in their wake. These, with a thousand other attractions, combine to swell the heart and soul with awe and enchantment.

Asheville stands amidst the summits of the grandest mountain range in the world, and so far removed from all other cities of its class to be outside the pale of rivalry and jealousy. Asheville's superior attractions are everywhere admitted, occupying an elevated plateau of nearly 3,000 feet above the level of the sea, its air is always pure and bracing, giving it the rightful reputation of being the most healthful place in America, yet the chief glory of Asheville is not her climate or locality, but the enterprise and public spirit of her business men, absolutely outrivalling any city of its size in the world.

In every period of the city's development these men of foresight, enterprise and liberality have stood with open purses ready to promote every scheme likely to contribute to the prosperity of Asheville, and it is to them the city owes its greatest debt. No means of judicious advertisement of Asheville's greatness has ever been rejected or neglected by them, and prosperity has neither chilled their ardor or warped their judgment nor tightened their purse strings, and such men as we here have will soon quadruple the enumeration of our population to what it now stands, hence we proclaim her business men legion and her many attractions unfaltering.

Asheville, North Carolina, the capital of Buncombe County, is on the Western No. Ca. Railroad, (a branch of the famous Richmond and Danville Railway System), and is delightfully situated in the valley of the beautiful French Broad River at the confluence of the Swannannoa.

It is surrounded by some of the grandest and most romantic mountain scenery anywhere to be found. The elevation is 2650 feet above the level of the sea, its high and healthful location and charming views have made it a favorable Summer and Winter resort.

The natural products are principally the growing and manufacture of tobacco, which is an item of great magnitude; also, extensive deposits of iron and manganesiate ores in this vicinity, (together with the statement from a well known scientist of the country that Western North Carolina contained the hard wood with which the world was to be supplied in the next fifty years. It abounds in that most valuable timber, poplar, now growing so greatly in favor in the Northern markets, and also the oak, hickory, ash, black walnut, cherry, locust, pine, &c.) Extensive gardens and truck farms, stock raising, dairying, and every choice vegetable that is suitable to the taste of the most epicurean and Cosmopolitan class who dwell constantly with us in this attractive city of the mountains. North Carolina is noted for its mountains.

In this State the Appalachian system attains its greatest height. There are twenty-four peaks which are higher than Mount Washington, in New Hampshire, no less than sixty which are over 6,000 feet high.

The principal mountain range, as we pass to the westward are the Blue Ridge and the Great Smoky. These lie nearly parallel to one another.

The Blue Ridge crosses the vicinity in a southwesterly direction. It contains many peaks of considerable elevation, and reaches its greatest height in Grandfather Mountain, 5,897 feet above the sea.

It is the great Water Shed of the State.

The great Smoky range extends all along the western border of the State, and separates it from Tennessee.

It is known under various local names, such as the Iron Mountains, in the North, and the Smoke, in the South. The great Smoky range is the master link of the whole Appalachian system. Its highest peak is Clingman's Dome, 6,693 feet above the sea, but a number of other summits exceed 6,000 feet.

Between these two ranges are numerous high peaks and massive spurs rising from the plateau; of these, the loftiest are the Black Mountains, which are so named from the forests of dark balsam firs that crown their summits. One of this group, Black Dome or Mitchell's High Peak is the culminating point of the Appalachian Mountains, and the highest land east of the Rocky Mountains.

It attains a height of 6,683 feet above the sea level. (This peak was named in honor of Dr. Mitchell, a distinguished professor in the University of North Carolina, who perished June 27th, 1857, while exploring this region, and was buried on the summit of the mountain.) The mountain region of North Carolina is one of the most beautiful portions of the United States. The mountains are fertile to their summits, and are clothed with magnificent forests.

Nothing can surpass the picturesque loveliness that bursts upon the traveller, and objects of interest to tourists and pleasure seekers in this mountain region is daily gaining fashionable and pleasing notoriety. It would require a vast field of language to describe the great attractions of this majestic country, and we proffer to the world, in this feeble writing, the advantages of coming among us with your capital, energy and enterprise. We promise you, at a near day, the proof of all we say. In this city now are represented some of the noted millionaire kings of the country, and monied individuals and corporations are fast discovering the right field for such embarkation. Apropos, one of the old and savage divines of the Calvinistic order of the seventeenth century, has a dictum of the last great judgment day to be held in some vast valley, and surrounded with a complete circuit of impassable mountains, which preclude escape on all sides. He must have had in mind some conception of the great Smoky Range vale, with Mitchell's high peak and Clingman's Dome, and all the cloud and sky-tall range that completes the mighty parapet.

Western N. C. to-day, with its lovely climate, clear streams, pure springs, in many places gushing out in great volumes of curative chemical mixtures of salts and alkalies at a temperature of 140 degrees. So that these rivers which run through the valleys never have a film of ice on their surface, and the vast sweep of amphitheatrical rock and hill-sides. These points, and many others the pen can not portray, combine to make Asheville the drinking cup, theatre dome, or punch bowl for "the play of the gods." Whatever figure you liken the place to, you will not find another place just like it on the round globe. At least so say the best travelled tourists who visit here from Summer to Winter.

Out of the rocks forming the walls of the canyons through which we ride, at a dizzy height above the valley below, the art of the skilled engineer has hewn and blasted magnificent rock beds for travel, and as we wind the pass on the decline the scene that bursts upon the snow-capped peaks that glitter in the blue sky, down, down, down, to the beautiful vision of Round Knob, it is one of the grandest and sublimest of descriptions. In fact, many other points of interest, including the mountain hamlets which are seen in a survey of this divine work of nature. The natural fountains, in close proximity, divide and send a crystal stream each to the broad Atlantia on the east and no less majestic gulf on the southwest, and ever spraying the atmosphere, making it, in its entirety, the sublimest description the eye and soul can conceive. The most vivid imagination cannot conjecture it, unless seen, and when seen, a sense of its immensity is overpowering.

In these mountains we have the most awe-inspiring and scenic grandeur on the Continent, and alone worth a trip from the Old World to the New to see. But Asheville has the most positive and extensive sanitary attractions in her mountain homes only equalled east of Denver, and very much resembling Italy and Southern France, and if she had been advertised one-fourth that those world-famous resorts her hotels might now be double in size and quadruple what they are in numbers. But rapid increase of tourist and regular season visitors is sure to come as individual advertising by those who have been here, and is sure to be given and will induce great numbers to pass the hot summer months and mild winter ones in a mountain winter and summer retreat, so refreshing to our jaded nerves, weak lungs and torpid liver, which is more potent than the zephyrs that classical liars attribute to the mythological "Vale of Tempe."

As a residence city Asheville has no superior in the United States or in the world. It is practically a city of homes, with all the advantages that may be found anywhere, together with many that exist nowhere but in the delightful health-giving climate of North Carolina. In general beauty and attractiveness there are no cities of its size that compare with Asheville. The beautiful situation of the various residence portion, with the grand mountain scenery always in view, sometimes as exquisite vistas at the end of a street, and again rising up as a background to the valley beyond. The cleanliness and complete drainage of the streets, the bright sunshine and pure air, the peculiar beauty and taste of the city itself, with all its home-like aspect, combine to make it attractive. Add to this its superb school system, musical and literary culture, pure water and a thousand other advantages that combine to perfect a pabulum of nutriment and delight. To repeat, Asheville is a city of homes, and among them are many which would be considered models of beauty and elegance wherever found.

It is also the architects paradise as there are so many beautiful sites to build upon.

The styles mostly in favor in Asheville now are the English and Romanesque which are now used almost entirely throughout all the cities of notable advancement. There are no pilasters or columns, but the Roman arch is everywhere. Another style those who build now are running to, is the modern Gothic, which is extremely picturesque and pleasing. It would not be possible in this article to do full justice to this feature of Asheville. Numbers of their fine homes are set down in the midst of magnificent lawns and surrounded by pieces of statuary, fountains and other accessories in ornamentation. In and about Asheville are all the inducements of beauty and loveliness that could be wished for. Truly this is now the veritable Poet's Corner of the earth and whoever can and would flee the "maddening crowd," will find here indeed sure rest to his weary soul and glad rejuvenation to the body if it can be secured below the skies. To conclude, Asheville is the Electric City, the Gem City, the Crown City, the Queen City, the Altitude City of the South, and is destined in a few years to be the largest business centre in the State, most fashionable health and pleasure resort in the world.

An index estimate to her present possessions as a metropolis would give her credit for :

CHARLES D. BLANTON & CO.

Charles D. Blanton & Co., Clothiers and Gentlemen's Furnishers, No.
9 W. Court Place.

It is the province and intention of this work to give a comprehensive idea of Asheville's business at present, and by sketching the prominent enterprises within her gates, which point distinctly to the conclusion that while now, comparatively a small city, we are assured that at the present degree of advancement the time is not far distant when she will compete with others of a greater magnitude and be rightly called one of the great cities of the South.

PATTON AVENUE SCENE (From Lindsey's Guide Book, by Permission.)

In this connection we call attention to the firm's prominence who head these remarks, and as a dealer in such a line none takes precedence of C. D. Blanton & Co. The business premises of this firm are very centrally located, and virtually in the very heart of the city, and perhaps nowhere else in Asheville can be found a stock so complete which is sold at such reasonable prices. This stock embraces a full assortment of Men's and Boy's Clothing in all the latest styles and patterns, Gent's Furnishing Goods, containing absolutely all the articles necessary for the toilet of the most fastidious gentleman, and always being of the newest and latest styles. This house requires the services of a large number of salesmen to transact its large patronage which is constantly increasing purely on its own merits. The gentlemen comprising this firm are Charles D., Wm. M. and Joseph Blanton; Corps of assistants are Mr. Max Marcus, Colonel W. R. Young and John S. Stephens, all of whom are competent and affable gentlemen.

Mr. Charles D. Blanton, the senior member of the firm and at present the mayor of Asheville, has been interested in her progress for a number of years, and during his administration as City Governor has shown his ability and efficiency in a remarkable degree, inaugurating in many instances substantial improvements, and has failed only in a very few cases to prove the right clay in the right place.

Mr. Blanton is one of those business men who conducts his affairs on a principle of strict justice and fairness to all, which principles, coupled with his indisputable integrity and broad liberality, have won for him large friendship and much success in the community and commercial world.

Mr. Blanton is also largely interested in various estates in this section, and as true physiognomists would put it, his face reveals those generous characteristics both of purse and of heart.

F. P. MIMNAUGH.

F. P. Mimnaugh, Dry Goods Emporium, Fashion Bazaar and rare display of the richest fabrics in the market. No. 11 Patton Ave.

"This in the nicest place in Asheville to trade." The speaker was a lady, and the place she referred to was F. P. Mimnaugh's splendid Dry Goods Emporium, No. 11 Patton Ave. "He keeps an excellent line of goods, and sells them at reasonable prices," continued the lady, who is a resident of Chestnut street.

This observant and strictly critical lady simply voiced the sentiment of every one of the thousands who monthly crowd this elegant store. The class of goods carried in stock embrace every conceivable article that a first class dry goods house can be expected to carry. The finest domestics and imported silks and satins are found upon the shelves and counters of Mr. Minnaugh.

They are there in endless profusion, wonderful variety of color and various designs. The interior display is a model of artistic arrangement, and nearly an exhibition of fine art. There is scarcely an hour in the day that crowds of ladies cannot be seen standing in front of these counters trading, discussing and admiring the beauties of the rare fabrics displayed so lavishly to view.

The store of Mr. Minnaugh during the fine mornings and afternoons so peculiar to Asheville's beautiful climate, presents a most charming and ever shifting scene. The large, airy and attractive store room is ever crowded with gaily attired ladies, whose varied and beautiful costumes and bright, pleasant faces lend a fascinating charm to the place, giving it the semblance of a beautiful Bazaar.

The delicate fabrics displayed so lavishly attract the eye and delight the soul of those who love the beautiful. The store has a splendid frontage, and the interior dimensions are commodious, well lighted and amply convenient for such a large patronage as he receives.

Also, a chief adjunct to this business is a first class millinery department, in charge of competent and experienced ladies from Baltimore, and nothing in this department is incomplete, but includes everything fashionable and artistic.

In addition to the large class of dry goods and notions carried by this gentleman, is a complete stock of carpets, rugs and matting, of endless grades and prices.

The entire establishment, in point of, attractive appearance, taste of display, certainly leads all the dry goods stores of Asheville. This firm employs a large force of clerks and attachees, to whom he is liberal and considerate if faithful assistants, and in consequence every person in his employ is zealously loyal to the interests of the firm, and feels an interest in the high reputation it enjoys among its numerous patrons.

There are numerous elements entering into the popularity of this noted firm, chief among which are the following facts: They are liberal advertisers and carry a stock of first class goods, which they sell at reasonable prices, and fulfilling every promise advertised and are keenly alive to the requirements of Asheville trade, which they thoroughly understand.

They know the value of courtesy, and all patrons receive the most considerate and polite attention, and nine cases out of ten, persons who trade once with this firm usually return, for it matters not whether the customer is a resident of Battery Park or a denison of "Cripple Creek." They all are treated with uniform courtesy by the proprietor and employees, and every effort made to render a visit to his store pleasant and agreeable. Their trade is of the most desirable class, and their goods of that quality and design that attracts and captivates at once those who visit this splendid establishment.

Go and see if we have not given them deserved praise.

At a casual glance or a passing thought it seems remarkable how rapidly some firms or individuals will acquire a large and lucrative trade, but when the motto is investigated it is easily explained.

make mention of Asheville's prominent industries without bringing into prominent notice the establishment of A. D. Cooper, among the largest and oldest dealers in this line in the city. Whose location is one of the most central and stock the most complete of any firm in Western North Carolina.

Whether it is a correct criterion or not, it is very often that the importance of an industry is measured by the number of people who use it, and in the matter of the grocery business it must be conceded that the rule applied to this instance is emphatically true, and pre-eminently among these establishments this firm takes the highest rank.

They carry constantly in stock a mammoth assortment of groceries, including coffees, spices, teas, sugars, imported and domestic, and canned goods, condiments of all kinds—in addition to an immense retail business.

They do considerable jobbing in this line and make a specialty of selling feed, hay, bran, and all kinds of food for cattle, which will, upon investigation, command the attention of the trade at home and elsewhere.

Mr. Cooper personally courteous, genial and is ever interested in the progress and advancement of this the "Queen City of the Mountains."

BATTERY PARK HOTEL.

A Retreat for Health and Pleasure Seekers. in whose abode bringeth forth soothing balm to one's jaded nerves, together with those luxuries which, in every way, satiates the wants of a fashionable and fastidious commonwealth.

On the crest of a romantic and elevated range of the great Southern Appalachian system, just far enough removed from the city's centre to escape the din and confusion of a busy throng of cosmopolitan people, and offering enjoyment, to its fullest extent, and all desirable metropolitan privileges and comfort, which tend to fulfill the wishes and complete the pleasures of a society and health seeking public, and commanding a view of mountain scenery with metropolitan elegance, and unsurpassed in the country is located the Battery Park, which, from innumerable points of vantage, renders it a most attractive hotel, and coming in comparison with the well equipped hotels of the South. Battery Park is a spot of historical interest, and widely popular, not only for its beautiful views, (being one hundred feet above the highest streets of the city,) and commanding a stretch of country in some directions of sixty miles distant, but as having been the location selected during the war by the Confederates as the defence to the city. Here a battery was planted and maintained till near the close of the war. The mighty breastworks still remain, and are preserved as flower beds. The view from the hotel is said by tourists and visitors to be unsurpassed in beauty in the world, the eye discerning 1,000 square miles of the sublimest and most awe-inspiring mountain grandeur to be found on this globe.

The owner, Col. Frank-Coxe, is a native of this State, but now residing in Philadelphia, who represents an enormous amount of capital, and is one of the leading railroad magnates of the country.

The doors of the Battery Park were thrown open to the public on the 12th day of July, 1886, and since that time it has enjoyed almost a monopoly of the principal travel through this country. It is four stories in height above the basement and contains about 250 rooms, single and en suite.

The architecture is of modern Queen Anna style, and the structure masonic and solid in its character. It has a frontage of 325x175 feet. It is one of the most thoroughly appointed and perfectly equipped hotels of any pleasure and health resort, both winter and summer.

Its location is one of beauty and picturesqueness that cannot be appreciated until seen. Every modern improvement and invention having been used for the comfort and convenience of its guests, and every rule observed which will at once commend itself to the attention of the health and pleasure seeker.

The entire building is heated by steam and lighted by Electric light and gas. All the apartments in addition are provided with commodious fire places.

Particular attention has been given to the Sanitary conditions of the entire building, and all the modern safeguards have been introduced so as to insure pure air throughout. The building is absolutely fire proof. The floors generally being laid in cement, preventing a fire from spreading from one floor to another, and every appliance, including stand pipes for the purpose of subduing fire, are available on each floor, and in addition making a serious conflagration impossible, and here may be seen throughout the year men from all portions of the United States. Wealth, together with fashion and culture, represented in various ways of social pursuits peculiar to an elegant metropolis and all the year round pleasure resort. But aside from the advantages enumerated the wise and liberal policy in the management of this institution employed by Mr. Steele has given great care to the table, to have it at all times fully supplied with every luxury of the home market, and every department is under the direction of experienced and skillful assistants. Thus in serving guests a bill of fare unexcelled and the service of the very best.

The first floor includes drawing room, private parlors, office, grand dining room, with ladies' ordinary, rotunda, reading rooms, telegraph office, ladies' billiard parlor, news and cigar stand, stenographers and typewriters conveniently located. The second floor, which is connected with the rotunda by several convenient stairways, contains barber shop, bar and billiard hall, gentlemen toilet and wash rooms. The former apartments in every particular are comfortably furnished.

The upper floors, in many of the apartments, have bath rooms, and are provided with every convenience desired for the comfort of guests. One of the features of the Battery Park's management provides itself is the fact that no perceptible difference in the furnishing of the lower and upper floors.

A ball room 50x150, which is exceedingly well fitted and arranged for such amusements in an all-the-year-round resort. This includes a ten-pin alley underneath, which is calculated to please the most fastidious. During the colder portion of the winter the verandas are enclosed by glass, and many of the private suites of rooms have glass bow-windows. By this arrangement invalids can enjoy a sun bath without leaving their rooms.

First-class livery accommodations are easily accessible ; also, in addition, a private motor car line is conducted, and by a gradually circuitous ascent of this interesting hotel, the summit is reached, and relieves a long and tedious walk, which is, in itself, a mammoth enterprise.

Good table conveniences and service has won the confidence and patronage of the best class of our people of the land, and thus has not only received the admiration of every person of note who comes to our city, but that of her citizens and the best business men from every part of the country.

H. REDWOOD & CO.

H. Redwood & Co., Dry Goods, Clothing, Shoes, Hats and Carpets,
One Price System. Nos. 7 and Patton Ave.

Among the largest merchants longest resident of Asheville are H. Redwood & Co., who first embarked in business in this city in 1881, under style of Graham & Redwood, Mr. Graham retiring two years later.

For a long time this handsome establishment has controlled a most flattering trade and attracted unusual attention on account of the mammoth stock carried and the rare bargains offered.

Mr. Redwood is a native of the "Monumental City" of Baltimore and has successfully mastered all the intrinsic details of the business. Shortly after coming South he recognized in Asheville an excellent opening, although the field was occupied at that time by strong competitors having strong priority of occupancy and extensive capital.

Happily the firm possessed considerable means, with experience and indomitable pluck, those essentials which enter largely into success in the commercial world. Their business education acquired among the shrewdest merchants in the North and in this community also, peculiarly fitted them for the task before them, and with every confidence in their ability filled their store with a stock of goods to suit all classes.

First of all, however, they recognized the value of judicious advertising, and one of their first acts was to herald to the trade through various advertising mediums the bargains they proposed to offer. They knew their stock would bear close scrutiny and marked all articles at plain figures calculated to invite trade.

They did not lay in a stock of shoddy stuffs and advertise them as first-class goods. They attempted no deception, but, on the contrary, sold the best at prices that permitted a reasonable profit and at absolutely one price.

The fame of such honorable dealing characteristic of this firm, with the excellence of goods handled soon gained circulation among people—and in an inconceivably short time their store was daily thronged with the best class of cash customers, which is the basis governing at present the rules of this establishment, as they keep no accounts whatever.

For nearly two years the active partners have been Messrs. H. Redwood, John H. McDowell and P. I. Love. The premises occupied by this firm are about 48x100 feet.

The interior is divided by a shelf construction which forms a divide of the different lines handled and gives it the semblance of a mammoth concern, with its several departments as it stands to-day under the management of competent men.

This immense area is stored with a stock of goods scarcely second to any south of Richmond, in which city Mr. Redmond is also a partner in a generally similar business.

Here can be purchased anything from a paper of pins to a complete costume for a lady, or outfit for a gentleman. A visit to this establishment will repay any one having an eye for the beautiful.

The ample show windows fronting on Patton Avenue command the attention of all passers by.

A most gratifying feature of the display is that every article exhibited in the windows has the price plainly marked upon it.

In this mammoth store room is presented a most interesting appearance eliciting favorable comment from all who visit it.

The most delicate and beautiful fabrics are found in bewildering confusion and the scene is captivating in its beauty and magnificence, accentuated by the business stir almost ever present.

The stock of goods carried embraces every desirable grade of goods, from fine velvets and silks which only the wealthy can hope to buy, and goods of more ordinary kinds within the reach of those of really slender means.

The kindly relations existing between this firm and their numerous employees are shown by the loyalty of the latter to their employers interest. Without exception they are courteous and in every sense obliging; it is a genuine pleasure to trade at this splendid Emporium.

The secret of the success of this firm is the fact, that the goods offered for sale are first-class and are sold at fair prices and that customers are treated with pleasing courtesy and every possible effort is made to protect the customers, real interest and thereby to merit patronage.

J. S. GRANT,

J. S. Grant, Ph. G. Pharmacist and Prescriptions a Specialty, 24
South Main. Tel. Store, 10. Res. 94.

To win success in the drug business one must not possess only business ability—but must have also a large amount of specific professional knowledge in regard to articles handled.

A gentleman possessing to a marked degree the above requisites is the subject of this consideration, and is entitled to very prominent mention in his especial line.

Mr. Grant embarked in this business in Asheville four years ago, and by the utilization of his naturally fine business qualities has succeeded in building up a trade second to none.

He carries a splendid stock, consisting of the very purest drugs, chemicals, toilet requisites, fine perfumeries, patent medicines of known merit, druggists' sundries, while especial care is given the prescription department, in fact such has been the care in this department that mistakes are foreign to it—while nothing is used but absolutely pure drugs and chemicals.

Mr. Grant is a druggist of long experience, and fully knows how to cater to the wants of this multifarious public which is evidenced daily by the large patronage he receives, and his knowledge shows what untiring energy of well directed efforts will prove.

The premises occupied by this firm are centrally located and fitted up in an attractive manner. We must admit the city is fortunate in the possession of a number of competent druggists, and among them stands pre-eminently this establishment.

Mr. Grant makes also a spécialty of several proprietary articles, including a tasteless emulsion of cod liver oil and pepsin, which has attracted much attention at home and elsewhere. It is a great flesh producer, and the most delicate stomach can digest it.

Also sole agents for Humphries Homeopathic Remedies, known all over the world, in fact the visitor will find every article belonging appropriately to this branch of the trade, and also a well selected stock of imported and domestic drugs, cigars and every department receives the careful attention of the proprietor, thus ensuring satisfaction to any and all. Mr. Grant personally is courteous, most agreeable, and occupies a splendid position in the commercial world, while socially he enjoys the esteem and respect of all who have been thrown into private or business relationship with him.

JOHN BAXTER BOSTIC.

A Sketch of one of Asheville's prominent citizens.—A career that savors of Romance, intermingled with Bold Success and Prosperity.

Not the least of the high privileges accorded the writer is that of recording a very few of the more prominent acts of North Carolina's business men. The gentleman whose portrait we furnish, first saw the opening of day in Rutherford County, March 30th, 1853, and has, since the present writing, been reared and nurtured principally in the good old Commonwealth of his nativity. His father, a farmer of very limited means, at an early age assigned him to the vocation of farm life. Its toils and hardships soon began to grow distasteful to him, and he made various fruitless attempts to escape the unpleasant environments that so closely surrounded his career; but, as a result of energy and perseverance which has of late years characterized his every-day life, at the age of even 18 he was not classed among the "tender foots," having tramped from his father's home to Georgia, a distance of three hundred miles, after an unsuccessful attempt to stow himself away in a wagon, where he was discovered by the wagon master, which, we believe, is the only venture in his somewhat eventful life that he has not met with perfect success.

Through the various misfortunes of the poverty of strangers in a strange land, he failed to secure a position in keeping with his love, and, as a last resort, was again subjected to the inevitable and stormy hardships of farm life. He braved this, however, for three years, and by a very necessarily economical policy of treatment upon the question of high life and luxuries, he accumulated the price of a ticket back to his native domain.

In 1874 Mr. Bostic conceived the idea of entering the mercantile business, although possessed of only $100, and less knowledge of the commercial world. He had confidence in his pluck. However, he at that date opened in a small way at Shelby, North Carolina, and was soon associated with his brother, Joseph T., under the firm name of Bostic Bros., both of whom manifested an aptness for mercantile pursuits, and by close attention to business, and a careful study of their patrons' interests, they were soon enabled to enlarge their business, thus also strengthening their credit. In 1881 Mr. E. H. Wright, of the same place, became a member of this firm, which continued to advance, and in a short space of time this firm entered into the manufacture of tobacco, and various other trades in that town, which continued with happy results until 1888, when several changes were made, and in 1887 Mr. Bostic came to Asheville, and since then has prospered to a remarkable degree. Mr. Bostic is now a large dealer in real estate in this city, wherein probably no calling or pursuit requires such keen foresight, thorough knowledge and intimate acquaintance with values as does that of the real estate dealer, and to successfully handle property and place loans in a constantly growing city one must possess those qualities named, and, besides, should have business ability of a high order and standing in a community that will inspire confidence towards him. In real estate transactions there are many points of vital character to consider, if a dealer would be honest with his customers and places any valuation upon his own character. Values may be inflated, property grossly misrepresented and titles imperfect, which the investor may have no knowledge of at the time of the purchase, but which cannot be hidden from him; and so the necessity of seeking out the dealer who has all the virtues of an honest business man, and is above the petty trickery by which many men rise to affluence and power at the sacrifice of honor, and entail loss upon their confiding customers.

Mr. Bostic is a conservative business man, and fully acquainted with every detail of his business. He is also a member of the firm of Bostic Bros. & Wright, and has, within a few years, figured in some large transactions, and has gained the confidence of a large circle of friends and the entire business community. In addition to the above he was the chief designer in organizing the Asheville Loan and Construction Company, in which he is a large owner; also prominently identified with the Asheville Light Power and Heating Company, a director in the Craggie Heights Electric Car Railway Company, and corresponding member of the American Real Estate Association, whose main office is at Memphis, Tenn., together with a large interest in the West Asheville Improvement Company.

Having faithfully performed his various stations in the past, Mr. Bostic has succeeded in acquiring possibly over a hundred thousand dollars. He takes an active interest in the Church, and, aside from these, his acts of charity since coming to Asheville has clearly demonstrated his tender sympathy for the unfortunate and poor, and he is public spirited and forward in every movement for the general good.

J. F. WOODBURY.

Leading Livery, Feed and Sale Stables, College Square, Telephone No. 1.

Among the numerous and various enterprises that go to make up the commercial whole of a city, none perhaps attract more universal attention or is of more general concern than the livery business, as it is of more or less concern and utilization to the entire community, hence it is in summing up the resources and industries of a city—important that representation should be made of the leading stables, among such, undoubtedly is that of Woodbury. This exceedingly creditable enterprise had its inception three years ago and by reason of most superior management and excellent equipment it has throughout this time done a lucrative trade and present for its numerous patrons the most fashionable and elegant teams, turnouts, magnificent riding and driving horses in the State.

The location of these stables at College Square are in all respects eligible while the barn is of a large brick and holds every convenience for the light, ventilation and comfort necessary for the healthful keeping of its large number of fine horses.

The stock consists of one hundred fine horses, twenty-five different styles of rigs, embracing a specialty in mountain double and single seated buck boards. T. Carts buggies, petite busses, landaus, dog carts, coupettes, and every conceivable livery conveyance known to the conduct of a modern and fashionable commonwealth and cosmopolitan pleasure resort like this the "Queen City of the Mountains."

This establishment is the largest in the State and gives employment to twenty-five or thirty hands, including a large number of experienced drivers, footmen and attendants in full livery costumes of the most fashionable and splendid styles.

Mr. Woodbury is a native of the "City of Notions," and came to Asheville in 1887, and by pursuing a careful study of the wants of a fashionable people he surely beyond peradventure takes the lead in this line of industry. He is a gentleman of large natural ability and his success is the natural result of energy and enterprise tempered with honesty, intermingled with the essence of courtesy and stands monarch in this vicinity in his particular line.

N. W. GIRDWOOD.

N. W. Girdwood, Proprietor Model Steam Laundry, No. 17 Patton Avenue.

The modern well equipped Steam Laundry is a great convenience to any city or locality, and should be patronized by all those requiring laundry work done, instead of aiding to pave the streets of China with American gold, hence get your work done at the Model Steam Laundry.

This business was opened to the public about two years ago and meets a long felt want, for nothing perhaps is more productive of profanity than a dress shirt indifferently washed or poorly ironed, and if only from a moral point of view it is a duty for a man to patronize an establishment which will do him satisfactory work. This establishment is a first class, well equipped and managed one, and employs ten or twelve hands and the running of one wagon in collecting and delivering in the city, and the gentlemen at the head of the business are well versed in the work, and have the vim, dash and energy sufficient to continue their success.

They superintend the work of the house and nothing but first class work is allowed to go out to its customers.

Their prices are low for good work, with calls and deliveries made to any part of the city.

The proprietor, Mr. Girdwood, is one of the city's representative business men, and this industry can not be overlooked by any family or citizen of Asheville, hence we say patronize your own people and let the almond-eyed peregrine with his pig-tail hair and wooden shoes, slide.

J. M. ALEXANDER.

J. M. Alexander. Manufacturer of and Dealer in Saddles, Whips, Harness, &c., &c. Asheville, N. C. No. 4 North Court Place.

As pursuing a very important branch of industry bearing upon the general commercial prosperity of and paramount proposal to add to the growth and interest of a city is the representative leading firm in its line.

We are in a work of this nature pleased to chronicle facts concerning it of interest to all.

This prosperous enterprise was commenced by Mr. Alexander in 1879, where he has continued by the strictest integrity and equitable dealing to all, built up a large and remunerative patronage, and carries a fine and diversified assortment of harness of superior finish, both single and double, light and heavy; also, whips, collars, pads, horse equipment of all kinds and of the most durable make, and sold at the lowest living prices. Mr. Alexander is a native North Carolinian and has been for a number of years prominently identified with the substantial growth and prosperity of Asheville, and has ever shown that enterprise and integrity which never fails to bring success and compensation to those who use and manifest at all times, with close attention to business and fair dealing alike to all.

Mr. Alexander has in his employ a number of thoroughly skilled workmen, and enjoys every facility known to this line of industry, to successfully conduct and complete it in every detail, hence we commend him as most worthy your patronage and liberal support.

MANN, JOHNSON & CO.

Mann, Johnson & Co., Furniture Dealers and Undertakers, No. 37 Patton Avenue. Tel. 48.

One of the chief and most highly developed industries of the South, is the furniture business, and especially in a live and growing city like Asheville. Very conspicuous among such includes the above extensive and thoroughly stocked establishment of Mann, Johnson & Co., who occupy handsome and commodious quarters on Patton Avenue, and several large warerooms in addition are utilized for storage purposes. A stock of furniture is carried that beyond all doubt takes precedence in size and prices of any in Western North Carolina, comprising everything called for by the needs of the artisan or the luxuries of a millionaire, or that is necessary to furnish every class of dwelling or mansion, from basement to attic, and classed as a necessary adjunct to business interests and the people in general, is that of the undertaker and an essentially representative exponent in this line, this firm offers superior inducements. This stock of goods is large and in all modern styles; caskets of metallic, marble and wood, and cloth covered in all the newest designs and finish, and everything connected with this branch of their business is complete.

This firm is composed of Messrs. E. B. Mann, R. G. Johnson, and W. W. Avery, the latter a principal owner in a large furniture manufactory of this city, which has an immense trade in this and all adjoining territory. All of these gentlemen, are in possession of ample financial matters to transact the large and increasing patronage which they are daily receiving.

J. W. SCHARTLE,

Merchant Tailor.

Attention to dress in the matter of well fitting garments has become a subject of more than passing notice, because of its relation to society and refined tastes, and with the growth and development of the city must receive, year after year, the attention of business men as well as gentlemen of wealth and leisure.

In this connection it is highly suitable to refer to the high class of workmanship and well recognized skill as a cutter of gentlemen's garments, manifested by Mr. Schartle, whose thorough business knowledge, excellent taste and popular requirements have received the recognition and patronage of our best and most substantial citizen.

This firm has been in the merchant tailoring trade in this city for a long time, during which time they have, by honest and upright dealings, secured a large and lucrative patronage. This well arranged establishment is located in an eligible block, and Mr. Schartle carries in stock constantly a large assortment of imported and domestic fabrics of the newest and nobbiest styles and to suit the most fastidious gentlemen. This business will compare favorably with the best in the South, and in all the essentials which are requisite to meet the wants of a fashionable Commonwealth.

THE GRAND CENTRAL HOTEL.

S. R. Chedester & Sons, Proprietors. Tel. 47.

One of the best managed hotels in the South, and operated and owned by the "Old Reliable," who is universally pronounced one of the most public spirited citizens in Western North Carolina, and beyond pre-eminence the pioneer of Patton Avenue. There is probably not in these whole Southern States a man more widely known than the proprietor of this splendid hotel, and most assuredly he justly deserves the prominence he has gained, not only in this section but throughout a contiguous territory. Mr. Chedester came to Asheville from East Tennessee about sixteen years ago, when Asheville was then a crude mart, isolated and unknown mountain town. But he was clever enough to discern for it a prosperous and rapid growth, consequent upon which he made a start in various pursuits and under the most trying circumstances but combining pluck, vim, push, and conservatism which are his own peculiar specialties, now represent one of our foremost citizens and holds a splendid reputation in the financial world.

The Grand Central ranks among the $2.00 hotels of the country, and in a great many respects the cuisine and comfort of this establishment will exceed those of larger pretensions and higher rates.

Mr. Chedester neither spares money or energy to enhance the value and attractiveness of his hotel. The old or first part of this large building was erected several years ago, but finding his patronage steadily increasing and the demands of the traveling public and pleasure seekers assuming such proportions made an addition to his premises of a large and magnificent structure which stands opposite the original connecting the two by means of a private viaduct, combining a most commodious building and furnished throughout with all the modern comforts and appointments of a strictly good hotel.

The registry of the Grand Central will show a larger number of arrivals within the past two or three years than any hotel in the country of Asheville's population, which is indisputable proof of its popularity.

The proprietors of this hotel is ever wide-awake and keenly alive to the interests of this growing Metropolis, and has beyond a question done more for her rapid growth and improvement than any other firm of the city. In addition to the successful conduct of the hotel, for sixteen years, they carry on the largest general merchandising business in Western North Carolina, and their daily sales in this line exceed those of any similar institution in the State, frequently footing up fabulous and incredible sums.

Mr. Chedester is a large owner of Asheville real estate and takes an active interest in public affairs. He is a veteran in his various fields, and his friends and customers are legion, and in the strictest sense of the word he represents the "Old Reliable and Pioneer" of Patton Avenue.

T. P. HAMILTON & CO.

Big "22" Patton Avenue. Staple and Fancy Groceries and Fine Condiments.

As a very important branch of the commercial industries of Asheville the grocery business is entitled to a large share of consideration, and in this connection we direct attention to the grocery store of T. P. Hamilton & Co., 22 Patton Avenue. The business premises occupied are well fitted up for the successful prosecution of such a trade. Messrs. Hamilton & Co., established themselves in this business only a short while ago, since which time they have by energy and ability, of the management, been steadily and constantly increasing. The stock carried is a choice and well selected one, embracing a full and complete assortment of Staple and Fancy Groceries, including coffees, black and green teas, sugars, spices, pickles, &c., a great variety of canned goods and condiments.

We have no hesitation in recommending those in need of such articles to this establishment as all goods sold are pure and fresh, and the honorable and upright, and strightforward manner of doing business, used by this firm, deserves a patronage second to none in the city and richly merits the splendid trade controlled by them. Mr. Hamilton has proven himself to be a man possessed of fine business and executive qualities, and is highly esteemed by those who know him.

JENKS & JENKS,

Real Estate and Insurance Brokers. Rooms 9 and 10 McAfee Block. 28 Patton Avenue.

One of the most enterprising Real Estate firms in the city, is composed of Messrs. Arthur E. & Charles N. Jenks, two young gentlemen well known throughout the social and business circles of Asheville. These gentlemen are front in realty matters, and their judgment in present or prospective values of real estate is generally referred to by even their contemporaries. They transact a general business, and make renting, collecting and negotiating loans a specialty. They have at all times bargains in residence sites, residence and business chances of all kinds. They have a large list of vacant lots in all parts of the city varying at prices from $50.00 upwards. They also give attention to Fire and Life Insurance and represent some of the most substantial companies in the world, and consummate trades of all kinds to the satisfaction of each party. Money is loaned by these gentlemen on good security, at reasonable rates, and in unlimited quantities and altogether transact one of the most extensive businesses in the city.

To outsiders desiring a paying investment in real estate, there is no firm in the city on whom they may more safely rely. They are worthy gentlemen and display much vim, push, and go-aheadativeness. This firm are natives of Massachusetts, and have been in business in this "Altitude" city for the past year, with a previous experience of over five (5) years in the timber, mineral and farming districts in western and joining counties.

Their trading embraces also some of the finest poplar and hard wood lumber and logs, including corundum, gold, manganese, mica, and iron lands that are worthy of investigation, and are not to be surpassed anywhere in the country.

JESSE RUSSELL STARNES,

Undertaker and Arterial Embalmer, No. 27 North Main Street, Tel. 51.

Beyond contradiction, the representative embalmer and funeral director of the city of Asheville is the urbane gentleman whose card heads this notice, who established himself in business in 1881, with a very limited amount of cash capital, but with an experience gained by eight or ten years service in the foremost undertaking establishment of the South, and the unlimited amount of energy and discretion with marked business ability. Mr. Starnes has succeeded in gaining rank in this line by contrasting and outrivalling all competitors in this section. The premises of Mr. Starnes are peculiarly fitted for his line of business, and at all times, when emergency demands, skilled workmen and attaches of this institution will respond quickly to calls when devolving work or aid of any character embracing this branch of industry, and we might add, that it is not only to his fine ability as to a sympathetic funeral director, but to his long capability as a business man an unusual competency as an embalmer.

It is scarcely meet to mention in this connection the mercantile trade with which this gentleman is associated. However, we are reviewing Asheville's resources strictly from a business standpoint: so we refer also to Mr. Starnes prominence as a general merchant, which additional line includes one in general tone of excellence and diversity of assortment in dry goods, notions, hosiery, boots, shoes, hats, caps, and all articles rightly belonging to a general dry goods store of first-class in the vicinity, and to be disposed of at the lowest living prices. Mr. Starnes is a native of this good "old Tarheel" State, and is a gentleman of pleasing characteristics, large financial standing, and justly merits the lucrative patronage he enjoys.

AUGUSTUS J. LYMAN. 120 Marlborough

Attorney at Law, Real Estate and Loans, Legal Building.

In these days when the rate of interest is steadily decreasing, and capital is becoming more productive, since the West has been overstocked with eager capitalists, the South furnishes the only outlet for this accumulated unproductive capital.

North Carolina least of the Southern States has been sought out by the capitalists, so that it presents a new untrodden field to the man with brains and energy. Here he can invest either in the soil and reap the advantages of the wonderful advance in values which has so transformed other parts of the South, or lend his money on first-class securities at eight per cent., a rate of interest which can only be obtained at a great risk to the investor elsewhere.

Of all the cities in this State Asheville affords the best field for investment. Not only do the main home industries and manufactories hasten its growth, but the floating population has become a steady and important element in the building up of this city.

Asheville is a health resort. It has 60,000 visitors, annually. Many of these men are compelled to remain here on account of their health. The result is the erection of many fine residences, and the necessary enhanced value of the surrounding property.

The investor, however, must be careful to place his money in right hands. What he wants is a firm possessed of great business sagacity, a thorough knowledge of the relative values of real estate in different sections of the State, gained by years of experience, and a reputation for fair and honest dealings. Such a firm is that of A. J. Lyman, a pioneer in the real estate business in Asheville, who for eight years or more has watched the rise and fall of values, and noted the direction in which the city has grown and towards which it now tends.

Mr. Lyman is a man of independent means and is prominently identified with the interests of the city. The best and choicest property in the city, which is on the market, is always found in his hands for sale. His judgment on prospective values is worth taking, as many of his clients can testify. For example, in 1887 one of his clients purchased a piece of land by his advice for $3,000 and in 1890 parted with the same property for $20,000.

Mr. Lyman is always affable and courteous to all with whom he comes in contact, and is as prominent a factor in social as commercial circles, in both of which he possesses an enviable reputation. This gentleman is the son of that eminent divine, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Theodore B. Lyman D. D., whose name is a household word throughout North Carolina and the entire South, where he is universally beloved and esteemed.

The office of A. J. Lyman is situated in the Legal Building, rear of the First National Bank, where he may be found during business hours ready to negotiate loans, collect rents, sell or buy real estate and look after the interests of his clients, both resident and non-resident.

THE "METROPOLITAN."

No. 29 North Main Street, Hampton & Featherstone, Proprietors.

The transactions in the wine and liquor traffic, in its various forms, has assumed such proportions in this city as to entitle those engaged in it to conspicuous mention. Messrs. Hampton & Featherstone, the subjects of our sketch, have been engaged in this business for a long time, and have covered a vast field of experience and have done great good for the advancement and progress of this "Queen City of the Mountains."

These gentlemen commenced business in a small way, but as a consequence of energy, probity and hard licks, have succeeded in taking the front rank in this city in this particular line, in which is involved large capital and labor. This establishment was opened to the public sixteen years ago, but in consequence of a large increase in their sales and that of business transacted, it became necessary to secure more commodious quarters, and are now located in the very heart of the business center and occupy premises in every manner worthy of the most fastidious and cosmopolitan people who daily visit this pleasure and health resort, and all lovers of a nice place to visit with superior quality of goods obtained are readily realizing the most elegant place to be found in this section, consequent upon which this firm are daily gaining popularity and patronage over all competition. It is with sincere pleasure we call attention to the splendid appointments constituting this establishment, and from the superior attractions of these premises, together with a high grade of goods carried, it receives a most desirable and lucrative patronage.

The fixtures are elegant, and perhaps surpass anything of the kind usually found in a city of this size, and in a point of artistic and tasteful arrangement will compare with any similar institution in the South. This wine and whiskey emporium is, in the strictest sense of the word, elegant and complete in every detail, and has, since its incipency, been most ably managed, resulting in a steady increase of business and most satisfactory gain to the proprietors until at present a trade is enjoyed second to none.

This firm are also jobbers of fine cigars, champagnes, native and imported brandies and wines of every description, including fine and medium rye and corn whiskies, and every article belonging to this line of mercantile industry.

Parties residing at a distance can rely upon the strictest purity and high class of goods handled by these gentlemen, who will give all orders extended them every possible attention. The gentlemen composing this firm are Messrs. Jno. G. Hampton and A. A. Featherstone, who hold a solid position in the financial world.

Their assistants, Messrs. Lancaster, Featherstone and Gooch, are artists in their chosen profession, and will treat you with courtesy, while the proprietors are worthy, honorable men, and propose to remain a fixture in this prosperous city.

BALLARD, RICH & BOYCE,

Dealers in Stoves, Tinware, Plumbing, Gas and Steam Fitting, Slate and Tin Roofing, Ready Mixed Paint, Window Glass, &c., No. 11 West Court Place. Tel. 17.

The character of the men engaged in the above business constitute no inconsiderable factor in the progress and growth of this city. Hence it is that Asheville is fortunate in having engaged in this line a number of able and excellent business men. Among them are Messrs. W. H. Ballard, J. R. Rice, and W. A. Boyce, who are old residents of this place, and who possess a minute and intimate knowledge of this particular line, which is one of the largest in Western North Carolina. The premises occupied is one of the most commodious in this section, being 30x200 feet in dimensions, and containing a mammoth stock of stoves, tinware, house furnishing goods, plumbing, gas and steam fittings, slate and tin roofing, and all kinds of iron pipe and fittings, galvanized iron cornices and window caps, and a specialty in ready mixed paints, brushes, putty, knives, and all painters' supplies, &c.

This firm commenced business in 1881, under the style name of Ballard Bros., which continued until 1887. Since then the present proprietors, with ample capital and business ability, have succeeded in building up a trade that will compare with many similar institutions noticeable in larger cities, and in a historical review no branch of trade will so universally attract the attention of the public than the large business transacted by this firm.

Attendant upon, and co-extensive with, the progress of a city is its commercial importance and growth of private enterprises and industries. Hence we find this rapidly growing and beautiful city is attributable to her mercantile fraternities, of which this firm is one of the largest and most prominent.

These gentlemen individually possess no ordinary ability, and as a firm combines one of the most solid enterprises of this, the attractive "Queen City of the Mountains."

FITZPATRICK BROS.

Wall Paper and Decorations, Contractors and Dealers in Mixed Paints, Leads, Oils and Varnishes, also Artists' Materials and Painters' Supplies, No. 30 North Main Street.

Among the most prominent business men and dealers exclusively in Wall Papers and Decorative Material is that of Messrs. Fitzpatrick Bros., who are natives of Tennessee, came to this city in 1880 and established themselves in this line of business some five or six years ago, and have by energy and continuous attention to business and a thorough knowledge of what they are about built up a trade in this metropolis of no secondary proportions, and we might add that from the time that Moses built the Ark of the Covenant and the walls of the Tabernacle, which were frescoed and covered with figurative paper now, in this day and time it seems to require, whether of machinery or mental adaptability, a peculiar fitness for this line of business, which appears to be rife in the atmosphere of Asheville's progress, and significant in a similar case with this wide-awake and enterprising firm, whom we have previously mentioned. For this trade to materialize to every one's satisfaction it demands no ordinary amount of skill, good taste and sound judgment, and such principles these gentlemen employ and conduct their business accordingly.

Messrs. Fitzpatrick are gentlemen of splendid ideas in this particular line and we commend them as most worthy of patronage.

They sell also Butcher's Wax Polish, Brushes, Artists' Materials, Grate Polish, Zinc Gloss, Alabastine, &c., together with an extensive stock of Wall Paper in great variety and ornamental design both in modern and antique finish, that excels any other concern in this vicinity, and by which we suggest you can make comfortable and beautify your homes at a moderate expenditure.

"THE OAKS," ASHEVILLE, N. C.

One of the Best Family Hotels in the South.

To those the nature of whose business necessitates, constant travel and the casual health and pleasure seeking public whose name is legion, no feature of modern progress possesses more interest than good hotel accommodations, and therefore it is that the "Oaks" is fast gaining patronage and popularity by the splendid adaptability and admirable conduct which is plainly noticeable as a dual qualification of its new management. This hostelry offers peculiar attractions to that discriminating class of travelling public, and health and pleasure seekers.

This hotel is fast becoming the centre of genuine interest and concern, whose patrons find the comforts and accommodations the very best, most substantial in this salutary mountain resort.

In fact very much better in every respect, than to be found in establishments here when terms and pretensions were much higher.

The "Oaks" hotel though of recent inception, is an elegant and well conducted hotel, and is considered a model of architectural design and thoroughly appointed in every detail.

The building of which we find a cut is one of splendid equipments, and is situated in a large oak grove with fine shade and beautiful grass lawns, only four blocks from the centre of the city, electric street cars pass the doors every ten minutes.

The house is furnished with all modern improvements and accessories known to a successful prosecution of this line of business.

The house is furnished with gas, electric bells, hot and cold baths, city hydrant and cistern water from the finest system of water works in the South. The "Oaks" is a large and commodious hotel five stories high which includes large office, grand dining room, ladies' ordinary, large parlors and additional accommodations necessary for the comfort and convenience of guest.

The hotel contains about one hundred guest rooms and is one of the leading establishment of this section. A large and well mounted telescope with an elevation of eighty feet, from which the views of the city and mountains are grand.

Asheville is already the "drinking cup" of a fashionable domain, and aided by a beautiful mountain scenery is calculated to draw hundreds of health and pleasure seekers, in addition to the 50,000 she entertains now annually. This hotel is the enterprise of Prof. H. G. Greenwell, and for a representative of the solid Blue Grass State who for fifteen years was president of a Bardstown, Ky., Collegiate Institute. He is a gentleman of culture and education.

Mr. A. B. Sites, a clever and experienced hotel man has been engaged as manager, and also Mr. A. E. Reading, of St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, as clerk and soliciting manager. The situation of the "Oaks" is one of its features, and is derivatively surrounded by majestic oak trees and attached to it are the fine grounds of the College Campus, comprising thirteen acres of cool and delightful terraqueous soil, hence guests of the hotel may enjoy the ozone sweetness and sanitary attractions of the dry climatic conditions of this splendid mountain region.

The hotel is well ventilated and airy bed rooms with a cuisine which is beyond a doubt as good as can be had anywhere without exception. The table being provided with each and every delicacy of a home market, together with all the delicacies the mind of an expert "Chef" can devise and served by a corps of polite and courteous waiters—in fact, the service being throughout perfect in every detail.

This is undoubtedly one of the prominent hotels of the "Queen City of the Mountains," as is abundantly attested by the large and steadily increasing patronage the house enjoys.

The "Oaks" was built within the past year and has since passed into the proprietorship of "mine" host, that genial and enterprising Boniface Greenwell, since which date he has conducted it with eminent satisfaction to himself and the most entire success to the public.

MAGNOLIA HOUSE.

Formerly "Carolina House," newly Carpeted, Repainted and Refurnished Throughout. W. A. James, Jr., Proprietor.

In a city, while not so large but so Cosmopolitan in its character, as Asheville, the need of good accommodations are even of more necessity than in larger cities because of the fact that much time is needed for the masses of the people to become settled in home life.

The city of Asheville has just reason to be proud of her hotels which take rank with the best in the land.

In addition to the settled population Asheville has a very large transient class of people who come from every portion of the United States, and these are most wholly dependent upon the hotels for board and accommodation during their stay in the city, and it is, therefore, another source of congratulation that the hotels are of such high standard of excellence.

Prominent among the well equipped hotels of this city is the "Magnolia House," which is conveniently located on North Main street, near Woodfin.

This hotel is now under the management of Mr. W. A. James, Jr., who is a gentleman thoroughly familiar with the hotel business and knows how to cater to the wants of the traveling public.

The Magnolia House is one of the old and reliable hotels of this city, and was for a long number of years conducted by Mr. Blair, but since the change of proprietorship this house has been subjected to many improvements and ranks with the best of the country.

This hotel contains 40 or 50 nice rooms, all of which are tastefully furnished and supplied with all the comforts necessary for the accommodation of its numerous patrons. The table is a distinctive feature of this house, and is abundantly supplied with everything the market affords, and every article is cooked and served in the best manner possible. The proprietor has adopted popular rates $1.50 and $2.00, and the board and accommodations are equal to those of many houses who charge very much higher prices. The aim of the new management of Mr. James is to give entire satisfaction to their large and increasing patronage.

The Electric cars pass this hotel and we recommend the pleasure seekers and others who come to the "Future City of the Mountains" to stop at the Magnolia House.

Mr. James personally is a most courteous and agreeable gentleman, and all those who stop at this house will receive in every detail most satisfactory treatment.

J. H. WOODCOCK.

Prescriptionist and Apothecary. No. 272 Patton Avenue. Telephone 37.

If there is one branch of industry throughout the catalogue of mercantile life in which the natural ability and requirements are greater on the operator, then we unhesitatingly pronounce that one the drug business, herein a vast field must be covered that requires a large fund of specific knowledge, and among the many druggists of this city none possess these requisites to a greater degree than Mr. Woodcock, whose premises are located in the west end and are fitted up attractively, containing all conveniences necessary to conduct a successful business. This business was established in 1887, but while not as centrally located as some others still from its incipency has worked up a lucrative patronage, particularly in that section, which has been won strictly by close attention to the wants of the people who never fail to appreciate fair and equitable treatment.

We might add that the business of Mr. Woodcock has been of late under the supervision of Mr. H. G. Chandler, who is an old and experienced pharmacist of methodical habits and undoubted business ability.

This store has enjoyed a large patronage, and in every detail nothing is wanting to properly class it as one of the most reliable of the kind in the city, compounding prescriptions of which this firm make a specialty is given always the utmost care, involving as it were such a delicate and responsible duty.

Mr. Woodcock graduated some years ago from the Baltimore College of Pharmacy, and since his residence in Asheville has made many friends, both of a business nature and in the social circles of the city. He is also frequently numbered among the progressive business transactions relating to other achievements, and during his career has been a successful one and deservedly so in many respects.

He is young and personally generous and companionable, and we predict for him a prosperous business career.

MISS N. LaBARBE.

No. 9 North Court Square, Modiste and Fine Millinery.

In this progressive age the beautiful has been made to join hands with nearly all that is practical and attractive in daily life, and in no sphere has the progress been more remarkable than with reference to dress.

The gentler sex are more conspicuously prominent in this movement, as by nature they should be, and hence the advancement and improvement in the millinery trade.

In this respect there is no place in the city that deserves more prominent mention than the one conducted by Miss LaBarbe.

This business was established about two years ago; it is most desirably located in Court Square, and is elegantly fitted up and reflects great credit upon the good taste and judgment of the proprietress.

The stock carried is a large one and embraces the finest quality—most fashionable articles belonging to this branch of mercantile importance.

Miss LaBarbe is a native of this State, and has been a resident of Asheville for seven years. She is a most courteous and pleasant lady and is highly esteemed by all her friends and acquaintances, and from the inception of her business to the present day it has enjoyed a continuous and uninterrupted career of prosperity. Miss LaBarbe also has a branch office at S. W. Bailey and Patton Ave.

NATT ATKINSON & SONS.

Real Estate, No. 5 North Main Street. Telephone 74.

There is no financial interest of such direct importance as that involved in real estate, and the great demand for eligible realty, coupled with a steady rise of value, is the best evidence of Asheville's growing wealth and prosperity.

Among the most prominent real estate firms of this city is that of Messrs. Natt Atkinson & Sons, No. 5 North Main.

They have been established in this business since 1883, during which time they have effected sales of gigantic sums. They transact a general Real Estate business, buying and selling realty of every description, and gives special attention to the management of estates, securing tenants, collecting rents, maintaining all property at the highest standard of productive efficiency.

Mr. Natt Atkinson, Sr., was for a long time publisher and proprietor of the "Asheville Citizen also Land of the Sky."

The superior facilities of this Company enables them to offer especial advantages to customers and to cover every branch of the business in the promptest and most satisfactory manner.

This firm are all natives of Tennessee, have long since established an excellent reputation for sterling integrity and honorable dealing, and have achieved a well-merited success.

The banks and business men of Asheville will tell you about them among whom are our oldest citizens.

BATTERY PARK HOTEL,

Livery and Sales Stables J. V. Sevier, Proprietor, No. 83 South Main Street. Tel. 25.

In a metropolitan city like Asheville there is no line of industry that affords such pleasure and enjoyment, particularly to the visiting populace, than a well conducted and thoroughly equipped Livery Stables, and one contributing, in a large and conspicuous degree. We mention the Battery Park Stables, owned and operated by Mr J. V. Sevier, who is a native of Tennessee, and came to this city a number of years ago, and is now thoroughly identified with the interests and development of this rapidly advancing city. In a city affording such interesting scenic attractions as Asheville, make this line of business one of unusual proportions, and we make mention of the peculiar adaptability and long experience with which this gentleman operates his business. Since the inception of this business, about six years ago, by a splendid knowledge of its duties and superior equipments employed by Mr. Sevier, there is, perhaps, no stable in this section with such ample facilities as we notice in this establishment.

Mr. Sevier is an exceedingly fine judge of what constitutes elegant riding and driving horses, and is in a position to offer to his many patrons splendid rigs, which include many fine, plain and fancy turnouts, such as phaetons, carriages, victorias, landaus, brettes, buggies, T-carts, &c., of all the latest styles and to suit the most capricious fancy.

These stables are commodious, large and well ventilated, and consists of thirty to forty horses, necessitating a force of fifteen to twenty hands to properly meet all the wants of the community.

This is one of the most popular stables in the "Queen City," and is a conjoint arrangement of the Battery Park Hotel.

Mr. Sevier, personally, is a pleasant gentleman, and enjoys the confidence and patronage of a large class of our citizens and visiting populace in general.

F. E. MITCHELL,

Dealer in Gentlemen's fine Furnishings, Footwear, Hats, &c. Also, Agent Wanamaker & Brown Clothing to Order, No. 28 Patton Avenue.

The changes in the styles and fashions of dress are almost as rapid as those of the Kaleidoscope, requiring in those who are engaged in it the possession of peculiar faculties and adaptabilities to win eminent success, and to attain the prominence which this firm has whose card heads this article.

Mr. Mitchell established himself in business in this city about one year ago, during which time he has carefully studied the wants of a fashionable public and catered to a high class of trade which is evident from the splendid patronage he receives.

His stock embraces an elegant line of Men's Furnishings, including neck wear, underwear, negligé shirts, under garments, &c., &c., of the latest styles and in great variety. Also, Men's fine Footwear and Hats, in all the latest styles and shapes, and of such embellishments that ought to command the attention of all well dressers, of which the "Queen City of the Mountains" are noticeable.

There is no line of industry that is of more importance to a fashionable public than that of those who know how to carry a class of goods that will in every respect meet the wants of the people, and as such Mr. Mitchell exercises the utmost taste and selects his stock with great care as to elegance and the desires of the most fastidious.

Mr. Mitchell is also agent for Wanamaker & Brown, custom clothiers, of world-wide renown, and you will do well to consult him when you contemplate buying a nice fitting suit. Satisfaction, price and fit guaranteed.

Mr. Mitchell is a native of Louisville, Ky., and in addition to a thorough knowledge of his business takes an active interest in the growth of Asheville and deserves your liberal support.

GRAVES & THRASH,

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in General Merchandise. No. 19, South Main Street.

Another of the well-appointed Dry Goods Houses is that of Messrs. Graves & Thrash, whose premises are well adapted to their large trade, and are located at 19 South Main Street.

For the past year these gentlemen have been identified with the mercantile interests of Asheville, and have since their residence in this city been recognized as business men of most sterling qualities.

The inception of this splendid dry goods house took place in 1889, during such a period, these gentlemen, by their extensive knowledge, of, and thorough acquaintance with the details of the dry goods business, renders them valuable auxiliaries in a growing community like Asheville, which is assuredly calculated to invite trade, hence the success and popularity of this establishment, fully warrants the assertion that this house has deservedly won its way into public favor. The patronage having increased in extent and permanence every where since its commencement. The store is central and eligible in its location, and consists of a building 40x125 feet in dimensions.

The articles handled comprises a carefully selected and varied assortment of goods, in fact everything to be found in a thoroughly equipped, general merchandising establishment; and it goes without saying that this concern is one of the leading in this section.

Mr. Graves, the managerial member of this firm, was five years or more, a traveller for a prominent Baltimore firm, and is known over a vast territory as a gentleman of fine executive ability, and with such an experience no one is in a position to secure closer trades which benefits his customers in a large measure.

They are in a position also which warrants the attention of the jobbing trade in this line, as by a special arrangement with the manufacturers of the North, with some of whom Mr. Graves is intimately acquainted. This firm will save you freight on a great many articles belonging to this department of merchandise. They advertise nothing which can not be clearly proven, and guarantee the fulfillment of every proposal to the trading public to be legitimate, hence this course being pursued by them in every possible code has inspired confidence in their many customers, and they realize a feeling of absolute genuineness in the fairness and integrity of these men whose operations enhance the growth and prosperity of Asheville and her kindred territory.

The gentlemen composing this firm are Messrs. J. F. Graves and J. M. Thrash, both of whom first opened their infant eyes on the green and rugged hills of this royal old Carolina.

J. M. HESTON,

Plain and Fine Confectioneries, Foreign and Domestic Fruits, Fine Chewing and Smoking Tobacco, 56 South Main Street.

The subject of our sketch, Mr. J. M. Heston, is a native of the "Key-stone State," and is one of the pioneer business men of this, the metropolis of the mountains, having established himself in the above business thirteen years ago, and it is a pleasing satisfaction to deal with those who have for a number of years conducted their business with that integrity, honesty and fairness which is the corner-stone of success. We thereby not only have the material advantage of many years' experience, but also that laudable quality, stability, which is fully represented in the proprietorship of this establishment.

This gentleman carries the largest stock of tropical fruits, plain and French candies, smoking and chewing tobacco, and every article embracing the interests of such a trade to be found in the city. Also a large dealer and manufacturer in all kinds of fruit, ices and creams, including many dainties and delicacies for home, table and party use, which is supplied in any quantity, upon short notice, and commensurate with prices and pureness to meet all competition.

Mr. Heston is a man of ability, and is well and favorably known, possessing not only that integrity and honesty of purpose that is always crowned with success in private business, but also that vim, push, energy and broad public spiritedness that builds cities, and makes communities progressive and prosperous.

W. O. MULLER,

Rear Grand Central, College and Water Streets. Dealer in all kinds of Domestic and Imported Liquors, Cigars and Tobacco, Rye and Bourbon Whiskies, Pure N. C. Corn Whiskey, Apple and Peach Brandies a Specialty, Agent and authorized Bottler of the Celebrated Anheuser-Busch St. Louis Pale Lager Beer and Original Budweiser Export Beer.

The old established liquor House of W. O. Muller, is one of the representative business houses of Asheville, its inception dating back to 1879, and was then begun in a modest way more than eleven years ago, and it has grown and developed until its annual sales rank with those of the largest kind in the city. The stock consists of the largest line of native and imported wines, old Kentucky bourbon rye and sour mash, whiskies, brandies, gin, &c. Mr. Muller was the first to introduce Anheuser-Busch lager beer and also bottled beer—this is received in car load lots in a refrigerator. This establishment does both a wholesale and retail trade, but a special department is devoted to family supplies in quantity and its bottled goods are of the finest quality, some of which have not seen the light of day for many years, but have lain mellowing under the kindly tread of time. Mr. Muller handles only the purest brands of liquors and cigars and a specialty of which they are sole agents is strictly pure “golden grain rye and Bourbon.” He holds a large per cent. of the trade of a wide contiguous territory. Five or six men are given steady employment in the work of this house. All of whom are polite, courteous and attentive gentlemen, and the work of this house continues to increase.

Mr. Muller is a man of excellent business ideas, and his house is a model in its arrangement of stock. He is an honest, reliable merchant, and as such is recommended unhesitatingly to the trade.

A splendid Billiard and Pool Hall in connection with his Saloon, with tables and accessories of the newest designs.

W. G. PERRY,

Ice Cream Parlor, Leading Baker and Confectioner, Groceries, Fruits, &c., 26 South Main Street.

Those searching for the freshest and most desirable goods in this line should examine the splendid assortment kept by Mr. Perry, who occupies now his new premises at 26 South Main, which is fitted up with much neatness, in a manner of convenience for his line of business. Although this gentleman has only been established since 1887, he enjoys a large patronage, mainly owing to the fact that first class goods can be had at the lowest possible prices, and that combined with the accommodation and courtesy of this gentleman, with his several assistants has no doubt a great influence upon the community.

One delivery wagon is kept to facilitate the execution of all orders and all such will receive prompt attention. A large stock of goods are carried comprising everything connected with the staple and fancy goods trade and every convenience and arrangement for the carrying on of the business in a satisfactory manner to all of his customers.

In addition to the above he makes a specialty of Huyers & Roysters candy, and in this line you will find at all times a fresh supply. The bakery is a chief adjunct in which branch he has almost a monopoly of the trade throughout this city.

A large stock of holiday goods are being received, which includes toys, fireworks of every description.

Mr. Perry is a native of this State, highly respected, has won the confidence of all with whom he has had dealings.

ASHEVILLE DRY GOODS COMPANY.

J. O. HOWELL, Manager.

General Merchants, and Dealers in Home-made Shoes for Men, Women and Children a Specialty. No. 31 North Main Street.

One of the most solid additions to the mercantile industries of this city is the Company whose card heads this article.

For some time past this store has been opened to the general trade, and forming a distinct commercial feature of Asheville.

This enterprising Company's management has made rapid strides in commercial ranks, and stands abreast any similar institution in the city. This establishment occupies a large, airy salesroom, finished in excellent taste, embracing everything in dry goods, notions, millinery supplies, dress novelties, and ladies' fine furnishing goods. The salesroom is dressed in a most appropriate style, and the window displays at all times some rare bargains.

The long experience of this Company's management has taught it the secret of bargain purchases. With this inside track they are prepared to undersell all rivals in their line.

Since this firm's inception it has attracted a wide patronage and established an excellent reputation of more than a local savor.

Honorable and upright in its dealings, it has the confidence of a host of friends, and a steady, increasing trade.

This Company comprises Messrs. R. L. Graham, M. S. Howell and J. O. Howell as manager, whose long experience in the dry goods business is a sure index of the lucrative patronage controlled by them.

The Asheville Dry Goods Company will make special prices to any and all Farmers' Alliances in Western North Carolina. In this business these gentlemen are in possession of the necessary requisites and financial ability for the successful conduct and completion of all they offer; and every transaction is stamped with that integrity and honorable dealing that characterizes the personal life of these wide-awake citizens. They also carry the largest stock, and make a specialty of fish hooks, tackle and angling complements.

McKINNON & PETRIE,

Merchant Tailors, Cleaning and Repairing properly attended to No. 58 South Main Street, Old P. O. Building.

The subject of dress is one of perennial interest, and there is no one at all solicitous of his outward appearance but will be pleased to obtain a few facts in regard to an establishment which has within a comparatively brief period attained the lead in fine tailoring.

We refer to the popular concern of which Messrs. McKinnon & Petrie are proprietors who opened business in this city about one year ago, and have already become the representative headquarters for the finest class of custom made garments. Their parlors are elegantly stocked with an endless variety of imported and domestic fabrics which are made up in the most fashionable and latest styles. This firm's reputation as skilled and stylish cutters is proverbial, and they employ only the most competent and experienced workman, so that in fit, finish and workmanship, all garments leaving their establishment is standing proof of their excellent taste, sound judgment, and conscientious care.

This firm though established about one year ago are doing a nice business and are ever enjoying an increasing trade.

They make a specialty of gentlemen's fine fitting garments and also do cleaning and repairing at prices in keeping with good work and a high class of goods turned out.

Messrs. McKinnon & Petrie are progressive business men and since their residence in Asheville have made many friends and won the reputation of being honest and reliable in every respect, and we take great pleasure in recommending them to the attention of all well dressers of which the "Queen City of the Mountains" is famous.

THE ASHEVILLE LOAN OFFICE.

In every city, as one walks along the public thoroughfares, he will constantly be reminded by the signs of the three balls, (which means two to one the investor will not return,) that he there and then may replenish his purse, should occasion demand, by leaving some article of jewelry of value, or anything in the line of goods hereafter mentioned.

In Asheville, Mr. Schiffman, manager, has recently opened a pawn-broker's establishment, and is an experienced man in the business.

Money is advanced at this house on personal property, such as diamonds, watches, jewelry, silverware, clothing and all valuable articles. Also, this concern keeps constantly on hand a large stock of diamonds, watches, and a great variety of jewelry of all grades. All business transacted strictly private.

Mr. Schiffman is a good, responsible man, having been in this business a long time in many large Eastern and Western cities, and any person leaving goods or jewelry of any kind in his care can be assured it will be well taken care of, and we commend him to the public as deserving your patronage, when you have collaterals and no money and wish to invest such to best advantage.

At this establishment the rate of interest is minimum to what it is in cities of larger population, and every gain possible in a transaction of this kind will be properly allowed the patrons of the institution.

Mr. Schiffman is at present on North Main street, but has the promise of more eligible premises, which will be given due notice of upon removal. If you get "crowded," hunt this gentleman up. We've been there.

"GLEN ROCK" HOTEL,

A. G. HALLYBURTON, Owner and Proprietor, opposite Pass. Depot.
Telephone 76.

There cannot be a more attractive feature about a city, especially like Asheville, than first-class hotels; and it is surprising with what rapidity a city acquires a reputation, either good or indifferent, in regard to her hostleries.

Possibly no health or pleasure resort of its size is as well supplied with superior places for the public entertainment and amusement of an army of people than Asheville, and it is most important in summing up such enterprises, that a conspicuous mention be given of her first-class and leading hotels. This house was built within the past twelve months by the present proprietor, Mr. Hallyburton, and opened to the public in the early part of this year.

The location of this splendid hotel is one of the most desirable in this mountain resort. No more suitable place could have been chosen for a building of this kind. The edifice is one of the most attractive in this section. While possibly not so large as others, it has been designed and especially constructed with an eye of combining comfort with convenience, and since having been completed within the past year, its service and cuisine stands in competition with the larger institutions of this kind in the city.

In connection with this hotel, Mr. Hallyburton conducts a first-class sample and billiard room, which, when taken into consideration that he keeps nothing but the finest brands of cigars and whiskeys, both imported and domestic, adds greatly to the comfort and wants of his numerous guests. The location of this hotel is one of the finest in the city, commanding, as it does, one of the most charming and beautiful views of the Southern Appalachian range. This hotel is a splendid structure, three stories high, and containing guest accommodations for two hundred or more.

The service of the house is complete; a corps of twenty-five to forty persons are employed in different capacities, and the guests at this modern hostlery will find comfort that in all respects are equal to the first-class ones of the country, it being the aim of the proprietor to make the Glen Rock thoroughly homelike and comfortable in every detail. Kind attention is devoted to guests at all times, and nothing is omitted necessary to their comfort. Particular care is given to the kitchen. Substantials and well cooked meals are generally provided for.

Passengers arriving on the late trains may rely upon receiving polite and careful attention.

Mr. Hallyburton has a wide range of practical experience, and is thoroughly educated in the art of hotel keeping, and represents one of our most substantial citizens; while the location of his house is surrounded by the matchless panorama of the mountains of Western North Carolina, in all the varying aspects of atmospheric change peculiar to this health-giving locality.

CORTLAND BROS.

Notaries Public, Real Estate Brokers and Investment Agents, 24 and 26 Patton Avenue, Second Floor.

Throughout the various line of progress and improvement to Asheville none have been more imperative and marked than the provisions made for the convenient and prompt transaction of real estate matters, so essential to the commerce and business transactions of this city, and among those as an auxiliary of great importance is the firm of Messrs. Cortland Bros. The nature of whose business we proclaim in the caption of this article.

These gentlemen are originally from the "Monumental City," and came to Asheville about twenty years ago and have been engaged in the real estate and investment business in this and adjoining territory during a great portion of that period.

The real estate man is strictly an American institution. The word "Boom" is not understood across the water and in this great country, the two are so clearly allied as to render the one impossible without the other.

In most business it is generally conceded that it is a point requisite in trade that a purchaser knows what he wants, but with the real estate man his peculiar knowledge and qualifications renders such ideas redundant. He must know exactly what his customer wants, and moreover must have at least a half dozen places that will suit him. In connection with the business of buying and selling real estate, they make a specialty of negotiations, collecting rent and taking charge of the property of customers generally.

These gentlemen solicit orders to buy and sell property of all kinds which will be given the closest attention, also investments security placed on real estate at eight per cent. interest per annum.

Messrs. Cortland are gentlemen of sound judgment in realty matters and also experienced civil and mining engineers, having learned its rudimental principles in the "Royal Academy of Mines," Frieberg, Germany, and the energy and pluck exhibited in the several lines in this community and the success they have achieved is a guarantee that all business left in their hands will be carried to a successful issue.

B. H. COSBY,

Successor to A. Cowan, Fine Jewelry and Optical Goods, No. 27
Patton Avenue.

A fact that is of universal knowledge, and one possibly that will be of surprise to many, is that the value of gold and silver plate, including articles of adornment, under the comprehensive title of "Jewelry," exceed by more than 50 per cent. of the coin of the various nations of the earth. In view of this fact it becomes evident that the sale of those articles embraced under the title of jewelry becomes an important factor in the commerce of the world. To successfully conduct this business it requires ability of a high order and artistic taste, such as are requisite in the few industrial pursuits. The establishment conducted by Mr. Cosby had its inception in this city about thirty-five years ago, but has, for the past few years, been operated by its present owner to the satisfaction of a large number of patrons.

This firm carries a splendid assortment of diamonds, watches of all grades, fine solid and plated silverware, cutlery, knives and jewelry of every description, and also artistic engraving and repairing promptly attended to. At the same time any article not in stock will be furnished on short notice.

We notice among his assortment many stylish pieces in solid silver and gold, which are exceedingly popular with the more cultured and intelligent people; but all parties are enabled to select from his stock according to the caprices and capacities of their purses, thus ensuring to his patrons the most perfect satisfaction, which is highly worthy the attention of all admirers of the beautiful in art.

Mr. Cosby personally is obliging and courteous, and in every instance fulfils all promises made to his patrons.

THE ASHEVILLE LUMBER AND MF'G CO.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Lumber, Manufacturers of Building Material of all kinds. Office and yards at Old Passenger Depot, near C. E. Graham Mf'g Co. Telephone 9.

The rapid and almost unparalleled amount of building in this city and suburban towns within the past few years has made the lumber and building material business one of the most important in the community, and large shipments of Lumber, Sash, Doors and Blinds are daily received from the lumber districts, which are often inadequate to supply the demands. A majority of the buildings are of the best class, requiring a high grade of material in their construction.

The Asheville Lumber, Mf'g Co., composed of President W. B. Marx, Manager E. S. Clayton have been engaged in the lumber business for a long time, and occupy extensive yards near the C. E. Graham Mf'g Co. Their carefully selected stock embraces a full line of Sash, Doors, Blinds, Mouldings, Flooring, Ceiling and all kind of building material known to this very important line of industry, including everything that enters into the building business and is of the finest grades to meet the demands for first-class material. Their stock is undoubtedly one of the largest and requires an outlay of a large amount of capital.

Their line of building material is extensive and complete, and using a force of 25 hands with numerous wagons constantly employed in carrying on the business, which is daily increasing in extent. The Company is well known and enjoy the confidence of the builders and architects of our city. Mr. Marx, president, devotes his entire attention to this business, and their aim is to retain the reputation they have succeeded in building up, and in every particular with completion of stock the highest grade of material carried. Mr. W. B. Marx, the corner-stone of this establishment and general factotum of the business, is a native of the splendid old State of Pennsylvania and came to Asheville about three years ago and immediately entered into the lumber business, during which time he has shown a thorough knowledge of his particular line, and enjoys the entire confidence of the business community, and by energy and executive ability has aided this establishment in building up trade that is a credit to the city and an eminent pride to themselves, hence further comment would be superfluous.

JAS. H. LOUGHRAN,

Liquor, Wine and Cigar Merchant and Proprietor of the only strictly White Man's Bar in the State. Main and Eagle Streets, Down Stairs.

What ever views may be entertained relative to the use of alcoholic malt beverages it is generally conceded by both high and low that wherever used it is an important and essential desideratum, that they should be pure and free from adulterations, hence, in this connection it is but fitting that we give this firm pre-eminent mention for a special brand of goods of this class, which they name, "Standard Old Corn," which is most carefully yeasted, mashed, fermented and distilled from the invaluable health giving chalybeate waters and choice corn peculiar to the famous mountain districts of this splendid old State, and ripened in heated ware houses and aged by the latest and best process. The tonic properties of the oxide of iron and their allied salts formed in the water from this liquid which distilled render it unequalled as a rejuvenator and strengthener to the debilitated and the weak. It is absolutely pure and free from fusel oil and is recommended as safe and beneficial as a medicinal agent in the various lung and pulmonary troubles and is prescribed frequently by leading physicians of the State. It is highly colored, which is due to the presence of iron from the mineral waters, and this special brand is worth your attention and is sold only by Mr. Loughran.

In addition to the above leading brands this house keeps constantly in stock, fine Champagnes, Cliquots, Rhoderers, Piper Heidsick, Mumm's plain and Extra Dry Claret, Port, Dry Sherry for family use, also pure Sacramental Wine, Imported and domestic Brands Gins, Rums, Cordials, and pure old Sour Mash, hand made and Bourbon Whiskies, Havana and domestic Cigars.

The premises occupied by this gentleman with the goods carried combines one of the most attractive saloons in the City. The character of this establishment's proprietor stands surety for the satisfaction of its customers and a constantly increasing patronage is evidence of its growing popularity, and the strict attention to business in all its details.

With the name implied "The White Man's Bar" allows this concern an enviable position among its compeers.

Mr. Loughran personally is genial, generous and genuine.

A. R. COOLEY.

Grocer, Fresh Meats and Country Produce. No. 45 South Main Street. (Tel. 70.)

In our review of the resources and mercantile interests of Asheville the grocery and meat business is entitled to special mention owing to its general magnitude in supplying the daily wants of the community, with goods essential to life and its preservation. Among the livest grocers and produce men on the South Side is that of Mr. Cooley who is a native of the good old Yankee State of Michigan, but came to Asheville about seven years ago and established himself in business and has by his methodical habits, courtesy and genial manner particularly adapted to the business in which he is engaged, succeeded in building up a patronage that is well worthy his strenuous efforts to please and satisfy a cosmopolitan community.

This gentleman carries constantly in stock the most desirable articles for table use including a splendid grade of fresh meat of all kinds and kept in one of the most convenient and improved refrigerators.

Mr. Cooley's stand is within easy access to all parts of the City, and any orders left with this house will receive prompt and immediate attention.

Including a first class grade of goods previously enumerated Mr. Cooley has on hand the choicest line of green and black teas, coffees, spices, pickles, canned goods of all kinds, and domestic and imported cigars. This gentleman runs two delivery wagons, employs a number of clerks, and no where in the city can one find a more desirable stock from which to select.

Personally Mr. Cooley is highly esteemed by a wide circle of acquaintances, and by a fair and honorable manner of conducting his business he is justly entitled to the large patronage he receives.

GEORGE A. SORRELLS,

Proprietor "Eagle" Saloon, Popular Dealer in Whiskies, Brandies, Wines, Ale, Porter, Beer, Cigars and Tobacco, &c., 23 South Main Street.

Occupying a very important and prominent place in the extensive catalogue of wine and whiskey dealing, and recognized as one of the most desirable places to obtain requirements of this kind, embracing a line of superior wine and liquor distillments, we unhesitatingly pronounce that of Mr. Sorrells, in his new and handsomely fitted up premises on South Main street, as the place to visit and receive any article in this line your sociability, constitution or imagination may call for. It has been frequently said and generally reputed to be a genuine fact, if there is a class of people who are ever generous, both in heart and purse, it is truly that of the saloon dealer, and very much like many drummers who lug a grip from year to year, gets nothing and pays well for it.

This gentleman commenced business in Asheville some seven or eight years ago, and has, from close attention to business and fair dealing to all, succeeded in establishing himself well in the high opinion of his friends and patrons generally.

The importance of the liquor trade in our city can hardly be over-estimated, employing as it does hundreds of dollars, and occupation to many deserving men, and should be appreciated, which shows by a clientage of some of our most influential and wealthy citizens.

This establishment, which is one of the most inviting in the city, carries constantly in stock a great variety of whiskies, brandies, both foreign and domestic, wines, ale, porter and beer on draught and also in bottles, for family use, including choice brands of cigars and making a specialty of L. Weiss & Co.'s fine rye, also McBrayer and "Old Charter," either of which brands are guaranteed as absolutely pure.

Mr. Sorrells is a gentleman of the strictest probity, and will insure all patrons of his establishment most kind and courteous treatment. His assistants, Messrs. Jno. Young, and others, are jolly, good fellows, and will be sure to treat you with courtesy and hospitality.

T. J. REVELL,

Dealer in Groceries, Hay, Grain, Feed, Wood and Willow-ware, Tobacco, Cigars and Provisions, No. 38 North Main Street.

Probably no one thing would more impress on the public mind an adequate idea of the importance and size of Asheville than the enumerations of our retail trade, under the comprehensive title as given above. The subject of this sketch, Mr. T. J. Revell, who is a native of the "Crown City of the Mountains," started in this line of business less than one year ago, and though a young man, is gradually taking rank in business ability with some of our more aged and experienced business men, and the exigencies of this a modern civilization calls for the services of men of aptitude and energy, which is readily perceived in the course pursued by this gentleman, who is highly honored for his good business sense and unwavering integrity.

Mr. Revell has in stock a grade of goods which go to make up its particular line, necessary comforts, both for the human and animal kingdom.

The business premises occupied by this establishment are well arranged, and contain a large stock of groceries, hay, grain, feed, &c., including a large and varied assortment of wood and willow-ware, cigars, tobacco, &c., which will be sold in competition and prices to meet the times and changes of dealers in a similar line.

Mr. Revell is a pleasant and courteous gentleman, and we take pleasure in recommending him to your kindly consideration when wanting any article in this line.

UNION TEA COMPANY,

Importers of Tea, and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Ornamental and useful Japanese Work, GIBSON & CONWAY, Proprietors, 52 South Main Street.

It is one of the features of a metropolitan city to have each line of enterprise, or those that, by their very production, uses and nature are similar, conducted separately, being in diverse ways an improvement on the old-fashioned medley system, while its decidedly noticeable that from these houses that only handle distinctive articles we get much purer and nicer goods.

Among the houses of recent establishment, it is our pleasure to call attention to this Company, whose name is the caption of this article.

The firm has recently undergone a change, and is now composed of Mr. D. E. Gibson, formerly of the Keystone State, and Mr. A. W. Conway, who is a native of the Old Dominion State of Virginia, who are doubtless gentlemen of clever discernment and business ability. The premises occupied have been newly refitted and refurnished with expensive and complete machinery for the successful conduct of this line of trade.

The stock embraces the very highest grades of teas, spices, coffees, green and roasted, baking powder, which, for purity and excellence of quality, cannot be excelled in this section. They make also a specialty of both ornamental and useful Japanese work of all kinds, which are grouped in figures and arranged side by side in artistic and bewildering confusion.

We call particular attention to the latter named articles, of which they have gone to much pains and expense to putting before the trade, an exceptionally beautiful line of goods suitable for the holiday season, which are calculated to meet the wants of all classes of people. This house, while only of recent inception, has already, through a system of perfect representation, and selling superior goods, a trade of no ordinary dimensions. We predict for this house a prosperous career, knowing the strict code of equity and honorable dealing upon which they will operate.

Messrs. Gibson & Conway are winning many patrons by their attractive premises and many superior goods in this the "Gem City of the Mountains." They offer to their many customers a superior quality of fresh roasted coffee every Monday morning. This is a special feature of their line, and for deliciousness of flavor is unsurpassed. In addition to this they have recently received a large importation of the celebrated Ceylon tea, a trial of which will prove a potent elixir to the jaded nerves, and will bring exhilaration and succor to the impoverished body, together with that Elysian balm whose soothing effect makes one forget one's future cares.

THE P. A. DEMENS WOOD WORKING CO.

Near Passenger Depot, Asheville, N. C. Telephone No. 26.

The magnitude of the interests involved in this branch of industry have an important bearing upon the welfare of a community, and are well illustrated in Asheville. In this city thousands of dollars of capital are invested. Expensive buildings are erected, expensive machinery put in them, and steady employment is given to a large number of hands. In this connection, special mention is made of this Company, who began active operations in this city about one year ago.

The works of the Company are located about one mile from the city, and are manufacturers of and large dealers in all kinds of dressed lumber, doors, sash, blinds, mouldings, stair work, martels, bank and bar fixtures, and all kinds of building material--making a specialty of hard wood lumber work.

The code by which this business is transacted is one of equity and integrity. Some idea of the importance and extent of this business can be seen from a concise mention of these works.

The Company is composed of P. A. Demens, President; F. S. Chapman, Secretary and Treasurer.

Few establishments, similar to this, surpass it in proportions and completeness of its process and arrangement.

The gentlemen representing this enterprise possess superior financial and executive ability and are well versed in their business, while each department is carefully looked after by those in direct charge of this establishment, and are not only a source of credit to the city, but a monument to the ability of its officials and management.

WENCESLAUS TAUCHEN.

Fine Merchant Tailoring. 65 South Main Street, under Swannannoa Hotel.

Among those industries that always keeps pace with the progress of the times and seasons, there are none more worthy of liberal notice than the gentleman whose card forms the caption of this article.

At the present day, no one who has a proper regard for neatness of style and perfectly fitting clothing, will not fail to patronize those whose experience and adaptation is to merchant tailoring.

In this connection, we refer to the establishment, of recent inception, of W. Tauchen, who is a Bohemian by birth. Mr. Tauchen speaks fluently, six different languages, which are, Bohemian, German, English, French, Italian and Spanish, and, doubtless, will score a success in his new domain.

He came to this country about a year ago from Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, where he was employed as cutter from Paris, and landing at Philadelphia, he immediately secured a position as leading costume cutter in the famous establishment of Wanamaker & Brown, but finding a change of climate necessary, he was advised to come to Asheville; in consequence of such he decided to embark into his present business, where he is conveniently located at 65 South Main Street.

Mr. Tauchen constitutes one of our new additions to the mercantile trade, and we bespeak for him a liberal patronage. As a proof of his ability in this line, he holds letters of recommendation for his efficiency from the famous Parisian establishments of John Hendrey and Robert Cumberland.

His stock embraces the newest fall styles of clothes, direct from the looms of London, Paris and Berlin, which he is prepared to sell by the piece or make to order in the last styles, guaranteeing in every case a perfect fit; also, repairing and cleaning neatly and quickly done.

This gentleman displays superior workmanship, and by close attention to business and fair dealings to all, he is fast establishing himself in the good estimation of every patron who favors him with a call.

REVELL & WAGNER,

Successors to Kopp & Lichtenberger, Staple and Fancy Groceries,
No. 28 Patton Avenue.

Possibly there cannot be found in a city anywhere, the size of Asheville, wherein so much energy and enterprise is manifested in this line of business.

It would be at this time difficult to conjecture fate of nucleus designed to a city, if the irrepressible groceryman should not be fostered within her gates. But he is a fixture within the gates of all powerful cities, and for all times.

Messrs. Revell & Wagner are young men of fine business ability, ample means, and are recent additions to this essential line of mercantile progress. These gentlemen have been engaged in various pursuits in this city for a number of years, and their conduct in the commercial world has been of such a tenor as to place them in the front rank of importance to the welfare of the community, and are fully alive to the interests of edibles for the table use. The firm comprises Messrs O. D. Revell, for some time past a resident of this city, but whose nativity is recorded in the Palmetto State, and Mr. J. L. Wagner, who represents, originally, Tennessee, but has also resided in Asheville for several years past. These gentlemen are steadily nurturing large friendships and a splendid patronage, and we desire to call the attention of our readers to the large stock of Fancy and Staple Groceries carried by this house, which includes sugar at refinery prices, coffee of superior flavor, roasted on the premises daily and ground for every customer, which is an important feature of their business. They also carry a large stock of fancy pickles, condiments, spices and various kinds of table supplies, making a specialty of choice imported goods, and are sole agents for superlative flour, the "premium brand of America;" also, Skillman's fine cakes and crackers, and many other delicacies belonging to this line of business, and regarding the quality, prices and splendid inducements offered by this energetic firm, we are pleased to mention them. Their house is located at 28 Patton Avenue, the line of goods carried is comprehensive and complete, and the firm deal both at wholesale and retail, and customers will find in many cases, goods often being obtained cheaper here than elsewhere, and we feel justified in saying that those who form trading relations with this house will feel no cause for regret.

E. F. HINES,

Successor to C. F. Penniman & Co., also, Successor to E. V. Jones, Esq., Deceased. P. O. Box 536.

The line of trade prosecuted by Mr. Hines has, within a few years, reached a phenomenal development. Men of capital, and rare good business judgment early embarked in this department of commercial life, and having an unusually excellent field, took hold in earnest. They were not content to occupy the narrow scope of a limited trade, but with true Southern energy are pushing the widening circle of their commerce far out into the adjacent territory.

Among the representative men engaged in the manufacturing and wholesale and retail dealing in harness, saddles, blankets, lap covers, &c., we mention Mr. E. F. Hines, who is a native of Alabama and came to this city about one year ago and succeeded the firm of E. V. Jones in the above line of business, whose location is at No. 34 North Main Street, and is one of the leading establishments of the kind in the city.

In conjunction with this business on a large scale, the premises of this firm, located at College Street, in rear of the Grand Central Hotel, and occupying one of the largest warerooms in this section, which is completely filled with Piedmont and Tennessee Wagons, Cortland Wagon Co.'s Wagons and Buggies, McCormick Harvesting Machine, Newark Machine Co.'s Empire Thresher and Clover Huller, Thomas' celebrated Hay Rakes, Bickford & Huffinan's drills; also Hamilton Buggies. Mr. Hines is also special sole agent in this section for all the above Wagons and Machinery, and in addition to a large local trade this firm is in a position to offer dealers at a distance close prices in jobs or quantity, of the articles we have enumerated, and in many cases offers inducements to outside parties which cannot be duplicated anywhere in the State.

Mr. Hines commenced business about one year ago, during which time, by close attention to business, coupled with a large experience in these branches of industry, has succeeded in building up a trade of no small dimensions.

The premises occupied at either point are centrally located, and large and well adapted to the business in which this gentleman is engaged, and well merits the large patronage controlled by him.

Mr. Hines personally is affable, and enjoys a high standing in commercial circles.

BLAIR & BROWN,

Furniture Dealers and Undertakers, opposite Blair's Old Stand, 32 Patton Avenue. Telephone 75.

Among those firms that are showing a marked degree of enterprise in this particular line is the firm whose trade is proclaimed in the heading of these remarks, and none takes precedence of this establishment as dealers in all kinds of furniture and experienced undertakers, which class of business does not constitute a less solid and important basis of our community, than the handling of articles which come under this comprehensive title of furniture and household requisites.

The gentlemen composing this firm, Messrs. W. A. Blair and J. V. Brown, are well known in this section, and are both natives of this State. They occupy one of the most prominent stands in the city, and keep constantly in stock a great variety of furniture of various grades and prices, and enjoy a patronage second to none in the city, and are progressive business men and public-spirited citizens, and well deserving the support and encouragement of the public.

W. P. BLANTON & CO.,

Livery, Boarding and Sales Stables, No. 15 South Water Street, near Patton Avenue.

It is well, in recording the various industries of any community, to give more than passing notice to any firms or individuals in any particular department of industry or calling, who have achieved high position through the force of native ability, enterprise and energy; hence we refer with positive importance to the stables of W. P. Blanton & Co., whose location is central, and stable one of the foremost in the city, which we can, without fear of contradiction, state that the above is one of the representative institutions of this metropolis.

There is no enterprise in a city of more importance than a well equipped livery and sales stables. The stables occupied by this Company are very large and commodious, being well ventilated, and having all modern improvements and accessories for the perfection of this business. The stock consists of about thirty riding and driving horses, among which there are some that are not excelled in the State. Also a large number of rigs, including carriages, landaus, buggies, hacks, phaetons, petite busses, dog carts, &c.

The gentlemen representing this business are, Messrs. W. P. Blanton and M. W. Daggett, both originally from this State. This business had its inception less than two years, since which time these gentlemen, by close attention to the wants of the public, have succeeded in building up an influential patronage.

This firm are old veterans in this line of trade, and with long experience it enables them to keep on hand only the finest and most stylish riding and driving animals and at moderate rates.

At this place saddle and carriage horses may be secured on short notice, and special facilities are theirs for supplying teams to large parties, and carriages for shopping, calling or balls. The popularity of this firm is easily accounted for by the fact that their horses are handsome and speedy, and their rigs comfortable and stylish. These gentlemen also board horses at moderate rates, and have, in connection with their establishment, an extensive sale department.

Personally they are pleasant and popular with all.

L. SWICEGOOD,

Willow Street, near Swannanoa Hotel, Carriage and Sign Painter-Paper Hanger, and Dealer in Wall Papers.

The business of sign writer, designer and ornamentor is one not only requiring skill and judgment, but also highly developed artistic taste, as it embodies more than mechanical work.

Among the pioneers in this city thus engaged, none are more prominent than Mr. L. Swicegood, whose premises are located at No. 2 Willow street, which is provided with all the conveniences necessary for the successful conduct of the business.

Mr. Swicegood established himself in this business in 1870. His superior skill soon secured for him a lucrative patronage. We see in this city and others many fine signs as a result of his talent, and as an ornamental sign writer has not a compeer in this section, and beyond a doubt is not paled in the South. While he also attends to ornamental painting and to interior decorations, and as a designer in this line is unexcelled, blending colors in such a skilful manner, as to produce beautiful effect.

This gentleman also deals largely in wall paper, and always has on hand a large and varied assortment in the newest and most beautiful patterns. Evidence of his skill is amplified in this and many other cities in the South.

Mr. Swicegood is a prominent citizen of this city, and employs a large force of skilful assistants for his increasing trade. Personally he is a gentleman of courteous manners, and his talent, together with energy and enterprise, justly entitle him to the great measure of success accorded him.

W. H. MARTIN.

Fashionable Hair Cutter and Tonsorial Artist. No. 60 South Main Street.

The human face has often been called divine, and the modern barber has chief charge of it.

Joseph, the Hebrew captive, confined in prison upon the false charge of Potiphar's wife, is finally summoned to appear before Pharaoh and shaves and washes himself preparatory, and this is the first account of this operation we have, although it is likely a much more ancient custom than this record shows. Several hundred years ago in England the barbers' calling included teeth drawing, and other dental service, nail paring, leeching, bleeding, cupping, and various surgical service, and a striped pole with red twined upon a white background was indicative of the trade. Now the business has narrowed down to shaving, cutting, and the male toilet of oiling, combing and brushing, with the addition of powders, perfumes, shampooing, &c., and it must be admitted that quite as much as the tailor, so the "barber makes the man," at least his appearance, and right royally is it done. The humblest citizen now enters a magnificent shop replete with mirrors and fragrant with perfumes, seats himself in an elegant chair, a sort of a plush throne, and for the trifling sum of 12½ cents has that hirsute hair of his, rough and grizzly and hairy as Calabaus, transformed into the smooth white and handsome phiz of a Nineteenth Century dude; surely there are great protean changes wrought in a barber's chair, consequently we have a large field for the business in this "Queen City," and the business is strictly cash and all the year round, so we direct all tourists, pleasure-seekers, residents—city and countrymen—to go by all means to the genuine old ante-bellum darkey—Martin, the Protégé.

BOSTIC BROS & WRIGHT.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Dry Goods, Shoes and Hats.

The above named Dry Goods House, located at 11 N. Main street, is another of the most popular and successful business firms of Asheville. In 1875 the Bostic Bros. entered into the mercantile business at Shelby, N. C.

With scant means, but as an exponent of enterprise, industry and clever discernment they were not long in becoming identified as the representative business men of that community.

In 1882 Mr. E. H. Wright became partner, making the present firm. By pursuing manufacturing and various courses of mercantile industries they soon began to gain power and affluence, which rapidly steered them to success and prestige in the commercial world. They remained in business at this point for some time subsequent, and in various ways subserved the interests of that gradually growing community.

When Mr J. B. Bostic, of this firm, came to this city in search of investment, while possessing keen discernment and fine natural ability he took hold of what seemed uncertain gains, but which by smooth management and close attention to business he has augmented his firm in taking the front rank among our leading prosperous establishments. The inception of this firm took place about two years ago as successors to the old established house of Brevard & Blanton, since which time these gentlemen have steadily increased and enlarged their business until now it is not surpassed by any similar institution in this section.

The premises occupied by this firm are commodious and convenient and include the ground and upper floor, which in dimensions are 30x125 feet each and completely filled with a select stock of dry goods, boots, shoes, hats and caps in endless varieties and latest styles. The interior presents an attractive appearance, with a rare and tasty display of the richest fabrics, together with every class of dress goods and staple articles.

The house gives employment to a large clerical force, who are experienced in this business, and are obliging and polite. The gentlemen composing this firm are Messrs J. B. & J. T. Bostic, natives of this State, while Mr. E. H. Wright represents by birth the "Palmetto State." They are respectively 34, 37 and 39 years of age. The business is under the successful management of Mr. Wright, who thoroughly knows how to cater to the wants of a trading public.

The favor with which this house has been received by the public is a splendid tribute to their genius as merchants and business men. As previously mentioned these gentlemen started out in a moderate way, but in the brief space of a few years have built up a trade second to none in this section.

This store from 10 A. M. to 6 P. M. presents a busy scene, when it is thronged with gaily dressed ladies examining goods and making purchases.

Their fall stock is now elaborate in every detail, embracing every article of the newest and most fashionable styles, including fine dress goods for ladies especially.

The curb is lined with handsome carriages, many of them in charge of liveried coachmen. Goods are displayed with wonderful good taste, the arrangement being artistic and pleasing to the eye. The store is a favorite with the best classes of ladies. The uniform courtesy and the eminent fair dealing accorded them, claiming their highest consideration and receiving their friendship and most liberal support.

CHARLES H. CAMPBELL,

Manufacturer and Wholesale Shippers of the "Queen" Brand of Ginger Ale, Soda and Mineral Waters. Factory No. 217
Haywood Street. P. O. Box 284.

If such information was accessible it would be surprising, not to say astonishing, to know what a comparatively few people not directly interested in the traffic have any comprehension of the immense amount of capital invested in the manufacture in this country of beverages described in this article, nor readily comprehend the number of persons to whom employment is given, and the consequent magnitude of the transactions of those houses making a specialty of this now important branch of industry.

It is therefore eminently fitting to present to our numerous readers a concise sketch of the predominant house of this kind in Asheville. The location occupied by Mr Campbell is in an eligible portion of the city and particularly so for this line of trade, at No. 217 West Haywood street, forming, as it does, one of the most complete works of the kind in the South, the buildings covering a large space of ground, and are constructed with an eye to all convenience and commodity touching this class of manufacture. This building is very conveniently divided into several departments, such as bottling, storage and generator rooms, while it is equipped throughout with all appliances and machinery necessary to the extensive prosecution of the business, and withal is one of the most complete works in this section of the country. The manufacture of ginger ale is here carried on to perfection, and is made a specialty of.

This factory gives employment to ten or fifteen hands, and has a manufacturing capacity of 500 dozen per day of ten hours. In addition this firm furnishes all the drug stores with portable fountains and supplies the entire trade of the city, and ships largely to all surrounding towns in this State and vicinity.

Mr. Campbell came to Asheville from New York about four years ago, and by a superior executive ability has succeeded in building up a trade both large and lucrative.

Among the thriving manufacturing and business operations of this rapidly growing city few are deserving more liberal recognition for substantial character and progressive operations than this establishment, and there could not be found a gentleman more capable of conducting an enterprise of such proportions with greater success than Mr. Campbell.

THE WESTERN HOTEL.

Dr. L. B. McBrayer, Proprietor.

There is no City in the Union more noted for its attractions as a health and pleasure resort or more widely known for its superior hostilities than Asheville, and in a general write up of her business possessions she would be incomplete without calling especial attention to the management and thorough accommodations of the old popular Western Hotel. The length of time this house has been in successful operation is plain evidence of the large and appreciative patronage controlled by the present proprietor, Dr. McBrayer, who is always courteous and obliging and gives constant care for the comfort and convenience of his guests.

The Western is located in the very centre of the City and in this regard offers superior attractions being readily accessible to all business portions of the City, and directly on a line of the Electric Railway, Post Office, Court House and other public buildings, in fact this location is one of the most select in Asheville. This hotel was established many years ago but has been under the management of its present proprietor for the past four or five years during which time it has undergone many improvements, and has since catered to a most desirable class of custom.

Forty to fifty handsomely and newly furnished rooms, large, airy and comfortable are reserved for guests. The dining-room is neat and homelike, the cooking and service unsurpassed and the entire establishment throughout is first class. The building is a handsome structure and the halls and sleeping apartments are furnished with all modern improvements known to this line of business. The proprietor is a gentleman of push and vim and is bound to succeed in any enterprise he embarks in, doing at all times anything and everything in his power to make the patrons of the house feel at home and happy, and it is through this genial and affable manner that has gained him so much esteem and patronage and it is with great pleasure we are enabled thus to write of this house and to devote to them the space in this work so richly deserved.

In this connection also we mention Dr. McBrayer, as one of the prominent and learned members of the medical profession of Asheville, graduated with high honors from the Louisville Ky. Medical College, one of the oldest institutions of the kind in the South and is regarded by a constituency as an able exponent of the profession.

T. S. MORRISON.

General Merchandising, Clothing, Groceries, Produce &c., 531 Haywood Street, at old Depot.

Among the most widely known and successful firms identified with the progress and welfare of this city and county, is Mr. T. S. Morrison, a native of Buncombe, Co., and a pioneer of Western North Carolina.

This gentleman has been for a long time a prominent factor in various lines that go to augment the growth and progress of this beautiful "Queen City," and is well known in social and commercial circles for his business integrity.

The location of the mercantile establishment of this gentleman is at 531 Haywood Street near the C. E. Graham Mfg. Co., where is conducted on a large scale trades embracing general merchandise, clothing, groceries, produce &c.

This business is managed by Mr. Osborne, a gentleman of a courteous and obliging disposition. Mr. Morrison is also agent for W. N. C., for the Shockoe Ground Nova Scotia Plaster, Buena Vista Plaster and fertilizers. P. O. Box 402 and office over A. D. Cooper's North Court Square.

This includes one of the representative business men of Asheville and is widely known for his unswerving honor and sound business talents.

NOAH MURROUGH.

Restaurant and Short Order House, No. 7 Patton Avenue, down stairs.

One of the best criterions to judge of the popularity or excellence of an eating-house is its patronage, and taking this as a rule, and the lunch room as an example, there can not be found in the city of Asheville, where the cravings of the inner man can be better satisfied, or a place more tempting, than the neatly fitted up restaurant of this firm.

The proprietor is a man of large experience in this line, having for a long time been identified with a great many large cities in the West in this line, and every substantial and delicacy of the season can be found in this establishment and served in the best manner possible by courteous and attentive waiters.

While this firm makes a specialty of fresh fish and oysters, every thing substantial is prepared and served in a manner highly satisfactory to its large class of patrons.

The management, by his courteous and obliging conduct, which adapts him happily to the business in which he is engaged, holds the esteem and high regard of a large circle of patrons and friends, and being well thought of in commercial circles as an upright business citizen, we bespeak for him a continuation of such well merited success.

This restaurant also furnishes regular board by the week or month, and at prices commensurate with well prepared food, and at all hours, day and night.

J. E. REED & CO.

Fresh Meat of all kinds, Game, Poultry &c. North Court Square.
Telephone No. 66.

Among the reliable and energetic firms engaged in the meat and provision business of this city, none are deserving of more personal mention than that of Messrs. Reed & Co., whose centrally located business is at North Central Square.

They carry constantly in stock a splendid line of meats, fish, game and poultry, and all such articles of supply belonging to the table.

The inception of this firm in business took place about one year ago, and has succeeded by utilizing natural ability and a system of honesty and integrity, in building up a trade of no mean proportions.

This firm is composed of Wm. M. Hill and James Alexander, who are both men of long experience in this business, and by that enterprise and exhibit of those sterling qualities, which distinguish business men, Messrs. Reed & Co. have succeeded admirably in gaining a large and influential patronage.

We unhesitatingly commend to the public as worthy of your confidence and attention when in need of anything in the above line. All orders promptly and quickly attended to.

P. C. McINTIRE & BRO.,

Wholesale and Retail Fresh and Salt Meats, Poultry, Oysters, Game, &c. No. 18 North Court Place.

In review of the resources and industries of this city, it is of paramount importance that the leading and foremost firms representing the lines in different sections of the city should receive mention commensurate with the magnitude and scope of their business, hence it is with pleasure we chronicle the advantages and facilities of the business controlled and owned by Mess. McIntire Bros., whose large and well fitted up business premises are located at 18 North Court Place, where at all times can be found positively one of the largest and best assortments of fresh and salt meats to be had in this section of the State, while oysters, fish, poultry and game of all kinds are constantly kept on hand, Messrs. McIntire having an enviable reputation for the freshness and excellence of their goods.

Throughout the five years they have been engaged in the above-named business there has been a steady, constant increase in their trade until at present they control a patronage second to none.

They give employment to several men, and keep constantly on the run two wagons in delivering goods to their numerous patrons. These gentlemen are old residents of Atlanta, Ga., and since their business inception here this firm has been identified with the progressive spirit of the "Gem City" for five years.

Messrs. McIntire are industrious, and possess fine business ability, and hold a solid position in business circles throughout this section.

This firm makes a specialty of fine sausage meat and operate the largest lot of machinery in this State, thereby enabling them to fulfil all requirements akin to their trade.

THE "BOSTON" SALOON.

Jno. O'Donnell & Co., Proprs. 39 South Main St.

Among the firms of recent establishment in the "Electric City of the Mountains," and one fast achieving a splendid trade, is owned and operated by Messrs. Jno. O'Donnell & Co., two popular young men who have during a short residence in our city made many friends and are much esteemed by a large circle of patrons and acquaintances.

These gentlemen opened this business to the public only a short time ago; however, they needed no large recommendation as for some time past they had been connected with the enterprising "Carolina" Saloon, which gave them ample field for showing their ability and making friends, which is especially demonstrated by a large and constantly growing trade contracted by them in their new premises, which are centrally located at 39 South Main street, whose stock consists of choice foreign and domestic whiskies, wines, ales, porters, cigars and tobaccos, also fine champagne, Claret, Rhine and Dry Wines of all the leading brands.

If there is one branch of business that goes to complete the industries of a cosmopolitan city like Asheville, it is that of a wine and liquor dealer, and in expatiating upon the usefulness and prosperous enterprises of this city, we call especial attention to the sample room conducted by these gentlemen.

These young men have been in the saloon business for a number of years, and if there is one firm in the city who merit success and popularity, it is these young men. There is no branch of mercantile life in which such great energy, patience and superior knowledge of how to conduct a successful business is involved than that of a saloon dealer, in consequence of which we unhesitatingly pronounce these gentlemen artists in this particular line.

Messrs. O'Donnell personally, manifests much consideration for their patrons, and are polite and obliging, and we bespeak for this house a prosperous trade and a successful business career.

Trade at a distance solicited and given every possible care.

J. N. MORGAN & CO.

Book Sellers, Stationers and News Dealers, also Dealers in Periodicals, Pictures, Frames, Toys, Chromos, Gold Pens, Pencils &c.
No. 3 Court Square.

As an enterprise tends to enlighten and the dissemination of knowledge together with amusement none takes rank with the vocation of the periodical and news dealer, a leading establishment of this kind is that conducted by Messrs. Morgan & Co., whose business premises are well adapted to the purpose for which they use them, when for five years they have with prominent success conducted this business.

This firm carries in stock all the leading dailies and periodicals, works of fiction, especially the German Illustrated Magazines and Ladies' Works, histories, etc., stationery pens, ink, notions, &c.

JENKS & JENKS,

Real Estate and Insurance Brokers,

Rooms 9 and 10 McAfee Block,

28 Patton Ave.,

Asheville, N. C.

Employment is given to several persons, among them is Mr. P. B. Scruggs, a most courteous and affable gentlemen.

Messrs. Morgan & Co., are gentlemen of more than ordinary ability as business men and have a thorough knowledge of the profession, occupying in the commercial world an enviable position of honor and esteem.

It is not our mission to institute comparisons, but to present a picture of this array of their chosen profession, hence we predict for them a liberal and equitable system of dealing towards all patrons of their establishment.

ASHEVILLE CIGAR CO.

33 Patton Ave, Make a specialty of Special Goods.

Third Floor.

The manufacture of fine cigars is an industry of vast importance, and has engaged in it large capital and much skilled labor.

The Asheville Cigar Co. form an important item in this line in Asheville. This enterprise was established about two years ago by Mr. R. R. Porter, and has already built up a fine trade and a reputation for fine goods of strictly first-class quality. In the manufacture of their goods they use stock from Havana, Cuba and Sumatra, and both for aroma and flavor the goods obtained here cannot be beat.

This company gives employment to 10 or 15 skilled workmen, and are turning out a class of goods that cannot be exceeded anywhere. Among the favorite 10c brands is the "Cappelia," one of superior quality, which is amply tested by experienced judges, and among the other specialties in the 5c. rank are the "13," "Time" and "Warrantee," goods of unusual fine quality, and well sustains their popular favor.

This is the only institution of the kind in this section and fully warrants the attention of all dealers and consumers.

Mr. Porter is a native of this State and a gentleman of business ability, and also has for a number of years past represented "on the road" the reliable hat house of C. W. Thorn & Co., Richmond, Va., and is highly regarded by a large circle of business men and social friends.

J. L. L. SLAGLE, Proprietor, Stagle's Hotel, No. 91 Patton Ave.

As a pioneer and experienced hotel man it gives us pleasure to make prominent mention of Mr. Stagle, who conducts a nicely equipped and thoroughly ordered hotel at No. 91 Patton ave. The premises occupied are in every sense of the word well suited for the purposes for which they are used.

Throughout the entire working of this establishment can be seen the efficient management of the proprietor. The tables at all times are supplied with the best the market can afford in the matter of delicacies and substantials, while patrons receive from polite and courteous waiters the very best attention. Mr. Slagle is a native of Tennessee, but has resided in this State a long time, so much so that he is thoroughly imbued and identified with North Carolina ideas, and knows how to conduct a hotel on modern principles.

This hotel has long enjoyed a lucrative trade, and is well and favorably known throughout a large territory. The splendid patronage of this house is appreciated from the fact that this hotel is in a position to accommodate many people who come to this metropolis and can not afford to put up at the more expensive houses. This house is commodious and will accommodate 25 to 40 guests, and the rates are popular and within the reach of all visitors, which this hotel names at $1 per day and upwards. As an important feature to the hotel Mr. Slagle is also a prominent dealer in general merchandise and produce where he is enabled at all times to supply his hotel with all necessary articles for table use, thereby giving his patrons the benefit of substantial edibles when not procurable from sources which other hotels are dependent upon.

Mr. Slagle personally is courteous and obliging, and always looks after the comfort of his guests and accommodation of his numerous patrons, and is also the possessor of valuable property here and elsewhere.

BURNETT & HOWARD,

Blacksmithing and Woodwork, No. College Street. Horseshoeing a Specialty.

A beautiful subject for romance and poetry is the hardy blacksmith's chorus of the sledge hammer and anvil, and in no line of industry is there greater necessity for skill and experience than in the above, and possessing these qualities in a marked degree is the verdict of all who are acquainted with the work of Messrs. Burnett & Howard. Uniting the two very important enterprises we have a trade prominent and useful and whose universal value can not be overestimated and in a historical work similar to the present deserves extended reference.

This dual enterprise was established in August last, and for thoroughness of equipment, excellence of workmanship, together with a comprehensive and detailed knowledge of the intricacies attending the important business of horseshoeing and blacksmithing, this shop is beyond peradventure one of the most complete, and the work most satisfactory in the city.

The premises occupied by this firm areelligibly located at College street, near Spruce. The building was recently built, and is of brick 30x60 feet, commodious and well constructed for the purpose for which it is used.

The firm is composed of Messrs. B. Burnett, of Missouri, and H. M. Howard, of North Carolina. The latter named gentleman has been in business in this city on South Main street for about six years, where he controlled a splendid trade. Mr. Burnett is also an experienced workman in this line, and in forming a copartnership under the present firm name these gentlemen represent the leading establishment of the city.

They make a specialty of horseshoeing and buggy repairing.

The firm takes front place among its many competitors and for the honest and trusty manner in which their business is conducted can be unreservedly commended to their increasing popularity.

M. SWARTZBERG,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in Dry Goods and General Merchandise, and making a Specialty of Clothing and Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, No. 10 Patton Avenue.

After Adam and Eve's miserable failure to cover their shame with fig leaves, it is recorded that the Master of Heaven and earth condescended to fashion their garments, and make them coats of skins with which to be clothed. This is high dignity for the clothing trade, but certain it is that the fashions of that trade rules the world of civilization to-day. No feature of modern progress in the scale of human development is more marked than the matter of raiment. Lord Chesterfield it was who held that correct taste in wearing apparel was a sure index to high mental development, and if this be so then Asheville is surely the centre of intelligence, for no city in the South of its size has more complete clothing establishments than Mr. M. Swartzberg in his splendid emporium at 10 Patton Avenue, who will set the styles also for the lesser lights in this line.

Mr. Swartzberg receives goods daily from New York auction houses, and carries constantly in stock a class of goods that cannot be duplicated, as to styles and prices, in this section.

This gentleman goes early to market, and thereby secures the first selection of goods which are always the newest, and in consequence of which he is in a position to offer inducements to a great many buyers which should attract your attention at once.

Mr. Swartzberg came to this city about two years ago and opened a business at North Main Street, but finding his trade largely increasing he at once sought more commodious quarters, and is now located at No. 10 Patton Avenue, with greater facilities for a more lucrative trade.

In his present premises we will call attention, in addition to his splendid line of clothing, a complete stock of Dry Goods and Notions, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps, of the newest importation, and in styles that should at once command the attention of all fastidious people.

This gentleman is a native of Germany, and was formerly in this line of business at Anderson, S. C., where he was regarded in commercial circles as a gentleman of business ability and integrity.

He makes also a specialty of Gents' and Ladies' Underwear, which, when compared with other prices and considering the quality, are not to be rivalled in this city.

Personally Mr. Swartzberg is a nice gentleman to deal with, and we can assure the public of his representations, as being unimpeachable and worthy the full confidence of the community.

T. N. HYNDMAN,

Fashionable Boot and Shoemaker, No. 18½ North Main Street.

Prominent among elegance in wearing apparel, none is more deserving of especial mention than a manufacturer of perfect fitting boots and shoes; and conspicuous in this branch of industry, we notice the methods employed by Mr. Hyndman, whose comfortably located premises are at No. 18 North Main street, who is a gentleman thoroughly conversant with the making of boots and shoes of every description, which enterprise adds largely to the comfort and convenience of humanity : and it is on this principle, an impression of the foot is taken, and a last made to an exact mould. The shoe is made to this last, and fits the foot as the glove does the hand, thus avoiding unpleasant pressure, corns and other inconveniences. Mr. Hyndman has been a resident of this city for two years, and has been engaged in his present business for seventeen years, and in this line of work his long experience warrants the assertion that he is master of his vocation ; and we heartily commend him as worthy your most liberal support.

This firm makes a specialty of ladies' and gentlemen's fine riding boots and shoes ; also repairing neatly done. His success is a foregone conclusion ; for many of us who stand all day upon our feet would be glad of any possible comfort that could be added.

WILLS BROTHERS.

Architects, Asheville, N. C., Knoxville, Tenn.

Asheville architecture, in many cases, is the pride of North Carolinians, and they love to see throughout many of the large cities of the country, pictures of her splendid buildings and to hear well-traveled critics declare Asheville to be the crown jewel for good art in many of the public and private buildings over all cities in the United States her size. But such praise cannot be given without recognizing that Asheville has been exceptionally blessed with the presence and work of a number of intelligent and practical architects, who have, by their thoroughly planned and beautiful designs, given our well skilled contractors and builders a basis on which to construct the splendid residences of our city and public buildings of inland commerce which line our streets.

Among others we find the New City Hall and Fire Department and Market House, cut of which is displayed; also, the New First Baptist Church, corner of College and Spruce Streets; residence of Lieut. A. H. Cobb, Academy street, and other works of minor interest.

All these monuments of art are materializations of the deft pencil and clear architectural conceptions of the enterprising Messrs. Wills Brothers, who have been operating in this city for some time past, and the humble scribe of this business reflex is but too happy to pay such tribute of the pen to the pencil, and even intensify it, by saying, it is the work of such citizens (our architects) as justify the verse of one of our local bards, running thus wise:

"All hail to the city of Asheville!
Bright gem of this Appalachian State;
Thy history brief, yet as brilliant,
As the health from thy mountains so great.
The range of the Blue Ridge engird thee,
Their snow peaks like sentinels stand;
The air from pinnacles nerve thee
To destiny loft and grand."
Here nature's book opens her oldest
And most brilliant pages to man,
And human art fashions its boldest
Of works for ages to scan.

C. E. ECKELS & CO.,

Exclusively Boarding and Sale Stables, No. 76 South Main Street.

Among those stables of excellent location and superior equipment, together with all the necessary conveniences for this class of accommodation in boarding and selling horses, none are more deserving of extended reference than that owned and conducted by Messrs. Eckels & Co.

Particular attention is given at these stables to the boarding of horses, and for ventilation and splendid accommodations, together with constant and careful attention, they are not surpassed by any in the city.

This firm receive regularly every thirty days a car-load of Western ponies, Kentucky thorough breds and other animals for sale or exchange, and are always open for trades in anything of this character.

These gentlemen are exceedingly fine judges of horse flesh, and consequently the sale department at all times contains some very valuable riding and driving horses, selected by them with especial care.

United with long experience in this business, these gentlemen are in possession of the necessary requisites and financial ability for its successful conduct. They are always ready to further any work that will redound to the improvement and welfare of this growing metropolis, and their stables would do credit and honor to any city, and every transaction is stamped with that fairness and faithful dealing that characterizes the general conduct of these progressive and wide-awake business men.

In addition, we call attention to the splendid riding and saddle horses for ladies and gentlemen, of which this firm make a specialty, and keep some of the most stylish and spirited riders in the city.

G. W. JENKINS & BRO.

Fine and Fancy Groceries, Country Produce, Cigars and Tobacco.
No. 34 South Main Street.

The natural and acquired advantages of Asheville have been employed with avidity by many houses that have risen to deserved prominence and which must be claimed that G. W. Jenkins & Bro., whose business has flourished with perennial vitality for the past three years, which dated its commencement, and was founded upon a scale far from the extensive, but the energy and discernment with which the trade has been prosecuted, has proven effective, and produced in building up a trade most satisfactory.

The business premises are situated at No. 34 South Main Street, under the personal and regular attention of the proprietors, whose firm composes Messrs. G. W. & J. H. Jenkins, originally from this state, and men of intelligence and a thorough knowledge of the useful business in which they are engaged.

These gentlemen do a large business in the grocery line, and have constantly in stock a large supply of fine and fancy groceries, cigars, tobacco and country produce, including chickens, fresh butter and eggs—the latter named articles they make a specialty of, and receive them from a source that is always a guarantee of their freshness and acceptability.

This firm ranks among the most prominent grocery establishments of the city, and while possibly not as large, are always in a position to furnish goods including this branch, at prices and quality to meet any and all competition.

Messrs. Jenkins & Brother are men of business integrity, and we commend them to your kind consideration when in want of anything in their line, as they are conferring an incalculable benefit upon all who look for something good to eat.

Dr. J. W. ROLLINGS,

Veterinary Surgeon. Special Course Ontario, (Can.) Veterinary College. Office and Infirmary 78 South Main Street.

For several years this gentleman has administered relief to suffering horses throughout the country, and has been located in Asheville about one year, during which time he has saved the lives of many valuable animals and has profited by the best training in the North and East.

During the last generation veterinary surgery has made rapid strides, and in this profession Dr. Rollings takes a leading rank wherever he is called upon to administer such a treatment.

He makes a specialty of the manifold diseases of that noble and faithful animal, the horse, and in treatment has been so successful that he has lost but few cases entrusted to him in several years.

The principal cause of lameness in this city results in many cases from excessive dryness of the hoof produced from concussion, and for this Dr. Rollings' "hoof lotion" is a prompt and reliable remedy.

He has in addition several remedies for horses which are efficacious, and has applied for letters patent, and these medicines he has on sale at his office.

To all owners of horses suffering from any disease Dr. Rollings is recommended unhesitatingly as a practitioner worth your confidence and consultation.

In addition Dr. Rollings is an industrious and loyal citizen and takes an active interest in his profession, in such being well informed, devoted and deserving of every success.

STRAUSS EUROPEAN HOTEL.

26 and 28 South Main Street.

A much needed hostelry and one that bids fair to secure a large patronage.

A really good hotel of this kind is so rare, that when one is found that is as near perfection as long experience in the hotel business can make it, it certainly deserves liberal notice in a work of this nature.

Asheville, generally, is abundant with first-class hotels, conducted on the American plan, but an acquisition that has long been felt for a thoroughly equipped and managed European restaurant is that which has recently been opened by Mr. E. Strauss, of this city, and marks an epoch of the rapid growth of this city's progress.

Mr. Strauss had, for a long time past, operated a restaurant in this city, but the extensive patronage controlled by him was of such a nature as to make it imperative for more extensive accommodations; accordingly, the owner of this property, Mr. T. D. Johnston, set to work in removing the old building, which is occupied now by an ornate structure of three stories and will accommodate about one hundred lodgers, and is arranged with all modern improvements and accessories for conducting a first-class and attractive hotel.

The location is a central one. The first floor contains main dining room, office and water room. There is a ladies' front entrance; also, a second entrance to gents' rooms from main dining room, which is connected by means of elegantly carpeted stairway. The second and third floors are utilized entirely for sleeping apartments, which are furnished in an elegant and comfortable manner, in oak, walnut, and cherry; the greater part of the furniture, carpets and fixtures, which were furnished by Asheville merchants, deserve special mention, and in every manner pertaining to the completeness of this hotel,

Nothing is wanting in it to meet the requirements of the residents and traveling public.

Both gas and incandescent lights are used; and, also, a chief feature of this restaurant will be a ladies' ordinary and private dining room for the accommodation of parties, which are so arranged as to fulfill every possible convenience.

The most pronounced epicure can here obtain anything his fancy may crave, as well as the man of moderate means and simple tastes, and all upon terms in keeping with a first-class European hotel.

The management has taken particular pains to employ only competent cooks and waiters, and possessing all the elements of a business man, industrious, enterprising and honorable in all his dealings, his future prosperity seems doubly assured.

THE ASHEVILLE INVESTMENT CO.,

South Side Court Place, next door to First National Bank, Real Estate Dealers and Financial Agents.

One of the direct and incontrovertible evidences of the rapid and substantial growth of this city is the mammoth proportions of some of her real estate companies. Among those of recent inception is the Asheville Investment Company, which betokens for the future, prosperity and success.

The gentlemen composing the company include some of our old citizens, together with business men from a distance, who have lately added their business abilities and energies to this constantly growing city, and represent officially Messrs. R. B. Hilliard, President, and C. F. Griffing, General Manager. The Directors are, O. S. Causey, R. B. Hilliard, C. F. Griffing, Jno. N. Ramsey, Geo. I. Parmley, in whose names are represented business integrity, and combining a company strong in every detail.

As a matter of profitable and substantial investment, no Company in the city of Asheville offers advantages that perhaps would be difficult, if at all possible, to duplicate elsewhere, and this fact alone, if no other existed, would be sufficient to enlist in the business of handling these lucrative investments, which consist of a large number of city and suburban improved and unimproved lots, located in the most attractive parts of Asheville, and which should command the attention of all shrewd investors, and in no other direction can be found so many advantages which combine to make a perfect location for a suburban home.

Particular attention is called to the choice business and residence lots throughout all portions of the city.

Quite a number of beautiful homes will soon be under way, and easy terms with special advantages offered those desiring to make good improvements.

The facilities of this company meet the requirements and are all that could be expected from a modern Investment Company.

IDLEWILD GREEN HOUSES AND FLORAL GARDENS,

No. 324 Charlotte Street ; The Idlewild Greenhouse Co, Proprietors.
Telephone 99.

There is probably nothing so beautiful or with a more elevating tendency than flowers. Asheville is well abreast with the times in almost every line. Especially is it true of Floral culture. A leading and widely known representative of this branch, and situated at 324 Charlotte street, is the Idlewild Greenhouses and Floral Gardens, in charge of Mrs. J. B. Deake, formerly of Tennessee. This firm deals at wholesale and retail in cut flowers of all kinds, making a specialty of roses, the latter of which is one of larger proportions than possibly any other similar branch in this section.

This enterprise was established in 1885, and occupies the large area of twenty acres, having three or four greenhouses and many hot-beds and cold frames. Employment is given to several practical and experienced florists, and everything in the line of flowers can be obtained on short notice and at reasonable prices, including bouquets, cut flowers, for funerals, weddings, parties, &c., at all seasons of the year, and packed to carry with safety. All orders, whether by mail or otherwise, will receive prompt attention.

The owners, the Messrs. Deake family, are natives of New York and Tennessee respectively, and in every sense of the word, fully posted on all matters related to floral culture, and are worthy exponents of the industry they so ably represent, and are numbered among our most valuable citizens and business men.

HENSLEY & WILD,

Family Groceries and Provisions, 23 North Main Street.

Among those industries that go to make up the material wealth and necessities of a city, there is probably no branch of business that contributes so largely to the fund than the grocery men. We desire in this connection to call particular attention to the establishment of Hensley & Wild, whose nicely stocked premises are located in a prosperous district, 23 North Main street.

This house carries one of the choicest stocks of fine family groceries and country produce to be found in the city. While not possibly so large as others, it is, in assortment and quality, not surpassed by any similar house in this section. The store is under the management principally of Mr. Wild, who is thoroughly experienced in the grocery business, and has a host of friends and acquaintances.

The members of the firm are Messrs. J. B. Hensley and W. B. Wild, native North Carolinians, who opened this business to the public about a year ago. Everything common to a first-class grocery may be found in this establishment, and at prices to suit the times. These gentlemen are excellent business men, and deserve the unstinted patronage of the people.

J. G. QUEEN, D. D. S.,

Dentist.

Success in every department of learned profession depends, to a very great extent, upon the intelligence, proficiency and ability which are brought to bear upon it. This is more particularly true as applied to that important branch of science which is comprehended in the practice of dental surgery. The dentist of to-day stands second in importance only to the medical practitioner, in alleviating or attending to those wants of the community which come within the scope of his avocation, and in no branch of the profession has more important advances been made.

Dr. Queen is a young man deserving of much success, and we bespeak for him a liberal patronage in this line of work.

The doctor has been, for the past year or two, somewhat at a distance from the regular practice of his profession, but has made arrangements to resume this work in its every active branch, and is now ensconced in comfortable quarters at his office, where he will be pleased to see his old friends and patrons, and, with first-class instruments and equipments of the newest and most improved styles, he is now prepared to compete with any one in satisfactory work in this section.

This gentleman has been a resident of Asheville for several years past, and has, unaided, succeeded in making a start as a man of business, ability and plenty of pluck. He has also of late been making some lucrative deals in realty matters, and has now on hand some splendid property, located in a desirable part of the city, which he is prepared to sell on easy terms or rent to responsible parties.

The doctor is genial, courteous and obliging, and is always at his post of duty, and ever ready to serve his numerous patrons in the dental profession, or sell or lease them desirable residence property.

F. N. CARRINGTON,

Wholesale and Retail Dealer in Coal. Office North Court Place, near Postoffice.

There is no question but the distribution of this great article of commerce from and about Asheville has been a great factor in her rapid growth, as in many cases it is controlled and handled by some of the most enterprising business men of our city, which statement is verified by the manner in which Mr. Carrington supplies the trade of this and contiguous territory. This gentleman deals at wholesale and retail, and is in a position to offer you coal in any quantity and at prices that probably can not be duplicated by any dealer in the city. The coal handled by this firm is of a superior quality, and has long been one of the most popular fuels in the market, both for steam, manufacturing and domestic purposes. The facilities for the prompt delivery of coal by Mr. Carrington are unsurpassed, giving employment to a number of hands and all orders are promptly filled, and is the earnest desire of this gentlemen to merit by the strictest principles of mercantile probity the continuance of the large and liberal support already enjoyed.

All coal purchased of this gentlemen is guaranteed to maintain the highest standard of excellence, and justly holds the first rank in this line of trade.

Mr. Carrington is successor to Atkins & Carrington and is originally from Virginia, having been a resident of this city for the past six years.

Personally Mr. Carrington is a most genial gentleman, and highly esteemed both in the commercial and social circle of this "Future City" of the mountains, and justly merits the success achieved by his industry and close attention to business.

ASHEVILLE'S PRIDE AND HONOR.

A Magnificent Building, Superior Teachers, and Modern Appliances Supplemented by a high order of Educational Facilities.

On the preceding page we furnish a cut of the Asheville Female College, as Prof. B. E. Atkins, A. M., President, and without fear of contradiction we pronounce this institution without a compeer in South.

Combining as it does the beautiful location, with the healthful climate of Asheville is nowhere equalled in the world, which fact has long since been decided by the most eminent physicians in the country. The faculty of the institution as will be proven by investigation represents the talent and long training of a complete staff of educational giants where work is so cleverly systematized, the wheels of the machinery run so smoothly, and the results are so excellent that the public does not always stop to consider the immense force which must be brought to bear by officers and teachers who in their several departments are superior and experienced educators and are making rapid strides in the march of progress.

Asheville is justly proud of the achievements of this splendid institution, not only do her educational methods stand out boldly in the world of schools and school men, but her buildings can not be excelled.

The percentage of improvements made within the past five years has been phenomenal. New school houses have risen as if by magic, and the high school buildings are almost perfection.

When one compares these lofty modern structures, with the original log school houses which but a few years since were Asheville's centre of learning, he realizes more than ever how swift and strong have been her strides of progress, and how great a factor of civilization are these institutions.

To the invalid who approaches the meridian in quest of health or the fountain of youth, Asheville's crowning glory is her perfectly delightful climate, to the man of business, it is the push and pluck, the vim vigor and vivacity of her citizens, besides the many fields open for the profitable investment of capital; to the tourist it is the grand and glorious mountain scenery, constantly standing in full view; to the lawyers, it is the immense amount of litigation, arising from her large and numerous business transactions; but to the man with a family it is her superb schools equalling any system in the South and far surpassing anything east of the Mississippi.

Asheville is particularly fortunate in this respect for many reasons; in the first place the energy and enterprise, the progressive spirit, the ambition and pride of the North always gravitate toward the Southerly region, leaving the lazy, indolent, phlegmatic material behind.

In the second place owing to her grandeur of scenery, the wealth of our mountains, the salutary effects of our climate, we find tourists, speculators, invalids and professional men of all classes flocking here from all parts of the globe. Asheville is full of high school and normal graduates from almost every State in the Union, as well as by much of the mental products of Europe. The result is, the market is glutted. The supply is much greater than the demand; the best is then selected and our schools are supplied with corps of instructors unsurpassed in the South.

The truth that "nature's latest products are her best," was never more satisfactorily illustrated than it is in the schools of Asheville. The teachers here have built an empire for themselves, peculiarly their own. They have culled from the effete monarchies of Europe from their Northern and Hesperian brothers all that is good and have dropped all the dry rot of antiquity, and, with "excelsior" for their motto are proudly pressing on to the grandest consummation of the human intellect. Nor are we proud alone of the surpassing excellence of our teachers.

The educational edifices, too, are worthy the praise, the admiration and the delight which they excite in the minds of all who behold them. In consequence of which we mention this institution as one deserving of especial reference to its architectural grace and beauty and being surrounded by eight acres of the most beautiful shade trees and grassy lawns to be found anywhere.

In addition it has all the modern appliances and facilities for heating, lighting, seating, accoutre and instruction. As with teachers, so with the buildings, the best have been selected from all the past and the errors of the past avoided.

In this institution the course of studies include preparatory of four grades, Collegiate in Reading, English, Latin, Mathematics, Geography, Natural Science, History, Philosophy, French and German, also complete department in Music, Art, Modern Languages, Religious Government and Social Culture, including a summer art and boarding school of splendid advantages, with type writing, stenography, book keeping, &c.

In future the College will be under the immediate management of Prof. B. E. Atkins who has been in active schoolroom for twenty-two years, and in this institution for eleven consecutive years. Rev. J. D. Arnold graduate of the Randolph, Macon class of 1860 and for several years a Professor in the Danville, Va., Female College and

WILKIE & ATKINS,

Successors to B. A. Wilkie, formerly South Main. Candy, Cigars, Fruits and Confectionery of all kinds, 12 Patton Avenue.

In summing up the popular enterprises of this metropolis, none are more deserving of eulogistic and praiseworthy notice than that of Messrs. Wilkie & Atkins, who represent the leading establishment in this city in this particular line.

This industry was opened to the people of Asheville about four years ago, by Mr. Wilkie, who has lately associated with him Mr. W. J. Atkins, a popular young man of business ability, and as a close attention to business and fair and equitable dealing to all, these young men have succeeded in building up a patronage of no mean proportions.

The premises occupied include one of the most popular in the city.

The stock comprises every kind of foreign and domestic fruits, confectionery and cigars, the latter of which they make a specialty, and carry constantly in stock a full line of these goods, both imported and domestic, and in this enterprise is represented two of the young and progressive business men of the "Crown City"—Messrs. Wilkie & Atkins are young men of pleasant bearing, and justly merit the splendid patronage they receive.

They are careful buyers in their line and display much ability in the selection of fruits and confectionery of the nicest quality, guaranteeing at all times satisfaction to their numerous patrons. In this connection we pronounce them in every sense worthy gentlemen, and should meet with the encouragement of a large and lucrative trade.

This firm are now receiving a well selected stock of holiday goods, which includes fire works and toys of every description, and will show you many pretty novelties in this line, suitable to all classes of customers.

They receive, also, on consignment, of any articles in their line, which will be given prompt attention, and prompt returns, at the highest market prices.

KELLEY & STRACHAN,

Practical Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters, 28 Patton Avenue, Down Stairs.

One of the various contributions which require inventive skill and mechanical operations and have contributed to the health comfort and convenience of the present day, perhaps none have more distinctive features than such as relate to the heating and lighting, ventilation and drainage of our beautiful homes, business houses, public buildings, and for the perfection attained in this line we are peculiarly indebted to the scientific plumber. Among those who have attained a high standard none are more deserving of prominent mention than Messrs. Kelley & Strachan, who have by energy and industry that knows no failing, together with close attention to business, established themselves in a short time firmly in the estimation of our people for their quick and reliable work and which stands proof of this assertion upon investigation. The premises occupied are commodious, being centrally located, and are stocked with a large assortment of fine gas fixtures, pumps, hydrants, hose, &c. The facilities enjoyed by this firm are unexcelled, while the excellence of the work is vouched for by the scrupulous and personal attention given by each member of the firm, who have always maintained a solid reputation for honorable and upright dealing, and are enterprising and public-spirited gentlemen.

THE MODEL CIGAR AND NEWS STORE.

No. 17 Patton Avenue, L. BLOMBERG, Proprietor.

This general sketch and review of the principal business enterprises of the "Gem City" would be incomplete and greatly remiss in duty, did it not contain appropriate mention of the attractive stock and premises operated by the courteous and obliging proprietor of the Model Cigar and News Stand, for perhaps, in the whole category of commercial pursuits, there is probably none that affects the public with more importance than a dealer in the above line, which includes also the news of the day by the products of the press throughout the leading cities of the country. It is a great pleasure, in summing up the industries of any city, especially so when we are so frequently shown examples of what pluck and energy will accomplish, as is distinctly evidenced in the subject of this review,

Mr. Blomberg is a young man who established this business about two years ago, and if there is any enterprise in this section deserving of success it is this gentleman.

Mr. Blomberg keeps the most attractive store of the kind in the city, and to those who use any article belonging to this class of trade, we unhesitatingly commend him to his establishment.

This gentleman keeps a full line of cigars, both imported and domestic, including all the reliable brands of tobacco, cigarettes, pipes of all grades, cigar holders, the latest styles in walking canes, and many fancy articles belonging to such a line. In addition, you can get any of the leading newspapers of the country, magazines, periodicals, books of facts and fiction, and is nothing without to class this the most complete stock of goods herein named in the city.

Mr. Blomberg, personally, is courteous and obliging, and is much admired in the community for pluck and energy.

THE ASHEVILLE NEW OPERA HOUSE.

A Gem of elegance, a magnificent structure and a model of artistic arrangement.

It has been truly said, that in the building up of a city, the character of her business men is of more importance than her natural advantages of situation.

The magnificence and pride of Asheville is her new opera house, which is in point of construction, convenience and architectural design, unrivaled in the South—the one building of this city that bids fair to afford ample amusement to the average resident and visitor is the inception of this beautiful edifice, which is without question, an acquisition to our people's charms, that has long been needful. It is a mighty monument to the progress and energy of Messrs. J. W. Spears and W. T. Reynolds.

This splendid building, situate on Patton Avenue, is destined to attract and delight Asheville audiences in future.

The general management of this opera house is under the supervision of Messrs. Reynolds, Spears & Sawyer, and while the amusement feature for the season is in charge of the latter, Mr. James P. Sawyer, a gentleman whose acquaintance in the theatrical world is very extensive, and doubtless his management of this opera house will be marked by a most gratifying success. Mr. Sawyer's long and varied experience in the theatrical business has thoroughly familiarized him with its minute details and general trend.

The foregoing facts, associated with the addition, that the opera house is one of the handsomest furnished in the South, will render it unusually popular with the amusement public.

A visit to Asheville is never complete until the visitor has passed an evening at this grand house and viewed its wonderful beauty and looked upon its vastness.

The Asheville opera house is owned by Mrs. J. C. Spears, and was opened to the public in August last, costing $60,000. The properties, accoutre, and the equipage throughout, completes one of the most beautiful and modern arranged opera houses to be found in the South. Three hundred gas and electric lights shine forth with beauty and incantation. The center chandelier, which is of hammered brass and warranted not to corrode or oxidize, has one hundred and fifty additional lights. There are twelve sets of scenery, four dressing rooms, four proscenium boxes, stage 39x51, height to gridiron thirty-five feet, height to grooves sixteen feet; proscenium opening 24x30 feet, with a seating capacity of nearly 1,200, and is heated throughout by steam, while both gas and incandescent lights are employed, and additional properties, which ranks this in every detail perfect and elegant.

Mr. Eugene Cramer, a southern gentleman, possessing artistic ability to a marked degree, painted the scenery, which is strikingly effective and beautiful.

The frescoe work was executed by Mr. F. A. Grace, of Detroit, Mich., and proves him eminently qualified for his particular line, while the entire auditorium is without a fault, consisting of modern accoutre for the amusement and comfort of both actors and patrons. The paintings are after the style of the early French renaissance, with allegoric and statuesque detail and consisting of portraits of classical composers, re-touched with effective colors.

The interior is perfect in every sense and presents a scene of dazzling splendor.

The season just opened will present one of beauty and attractiveness, as many of the famous stars, composing the brilliant constellation of the theatrical world, have been engaged and will appear at the grand opera house the coming season.

THE ASHEVILLE TRANSFER COMPANY AND GENERAL LIVERY OFFICE,

No. 68 South Main. Telephone No. 7.
F. STIKELEATHER, Manager.

Riding and driving is a pleasure in which Americans revel and at all seasons, especially in a popular resort like Asheville, perhaps more so than any like city of the nation, hence the demands for livery accommodations must be peremptory to supply the large wants of the fashionable health and pleasure-seeker, and if we were called upon to name a business wherein competition is greater and sharper we would be hardly able to do so.

An establishment that has long met these requirements and one that bids fair to pale rivalry and stay competition is that of the Asheville Transfer and General Livery office, where well equipped stables are located at 68 South Main street.

The premises occupied is a splendid structure, built and designed especially for this line of industry, and includes 25 to 30 of the most desirable riding and driving horses in the city, also every style rig belonging to a thoroughly appointed stable.

The building is one of the most conveniently arranged in this section for the health and comfort of their stock, and well ventilated.

A leading adjunct to this business is the buying and selling and boarding of horses, while these gentlemen are thoroughly conversant with this, and we predict for them a lucrative trade and a satisfactory business career.

Messrs. Stikeleather Bros. constitute the proprietorship of this establishment, and are among our most solid and progressive business men.

This firm also does the principal baggage transfer of the city, and are prompt in this line on all occasions Telephone call No. 7.

THE BURNETT HOUSE FORMERLY "EAGLE HOTEL,"

Remodeled, Refurnished and Refitted Throughout.
Mrs. L. J. BURNETT, Proprietress.

Among the hotels of much needed improvement, and one that is destined to succeed and gain popularity is the Burnett House, located on South Main street and under the experienced management of Mrs. L. J. Burnett, latterly proprietress of the Central Hotel at Hot Springs, N. C.

For a long time past this house had been poorly managed, and in fact was at a very low rating, but under its new management we predict for it a successful career and large patronage. This hostelry has about 20 guest rooms, and we can not say too much in its favor. The proprietress, Mrs. Burnett, is a lady of pluck and energy, which is amply attested in her manner of taking hold of this house and bringing it up to such a standard of excellence. The Eagle Hotel was in former days one of the finest conducted hotels in this section and enjoyed a most flattering custom, but for some cause or other it fell into bad hands and having frequently changed management, we were sorry to note the stagnant condition of late years which has characterized this once famous hotel.

Mr. Robert Johnson, of this city, the owner of this splendid structure, has gone to much expense in the improvement of this house, and it now stands in competition with the popular and well-appointed hotels of this mountain resort, having been lately thoroughly renovated, cleaned, kalsomined and refurnished with first-class accoutre and convenience necessary for the comfort of guests. This house has 25 light and well ventilated rooms newly and elegantly arranged and offers splendid attractions for both resident and pleasure-seeker.

The rate of charges stipulated by this hostelry range from $1.50 per day to $5 to $8 per week. The table is laden with substantial and delicate edibles and everything good the market affords.

The hostess, Mrs. Burnett, is a lady of pleasant and affable bearing, and is thoroughly deserving of a large patronage.

ASHEVILLE WOOD YARD.

Asheville Cement and Plaster Works. Asheville Artificial Stone and Tile Works. C. E. Moody. Prop'r, Office 30 Patton Avenue. Tel. 73.

These important branches of industry are in their very nature of material concern to the community at large; hence it claims most prominent mention.

This gentlemen being the operator of this combination, which represents one of the most important concerns in this section, the offices of the company being located at No. 30 Patton Avenue, while the large, commodious yards and warehouses are very conveniently located in the western part of the city, near the Depot. While this company has not been in operation as long as some others in the same line, yet they have, by superior facilities and the handling of first class line of products, succeeded in building a large patronage. This company handles, in both wholesale and retail lots, fire wood, all sizes and lengths, cut, split and delivered, ready for use, cord wood of all kinds, charcoal; also coke, crushed to various sizes for stoves, ranges and furnaces.

Also, a representative adjunct of this house is English, German, Portland and Domestic Cements, Calcined Plaster, Lime and Roofing Material. Also, artificial stone and tiling work, such as sidewalks, walks in yards, offices, halls, floors for stoves, basements, hearths, and carriage blocks, of various colors and designs. Also, lay concrete sidewalks and similar work.

Mr. C. E. Moody, the efficient manager and proprietor of these several industries, is a native of England, and has been operating in Asheville for nearly two years, and taking into consideration the prominence already gained by him, we predict for this establishment a continuation of prosperity and increasing popularity.

Samples of work can be seen at Raysor & Smith's drug store, National Bank of Asheville, also Carmichael's drug store.

T. W. & A. M. TRIPPLETT BROS.

Fine Family Groceries and Provisions, near Old Passenger Depot, corner Robert and Buxton Streets.

These are young men full of grit and enterprise, fostered and developed in the old commonwealth of North Carolina. They have been established in business about two years and have a wide circle of friends and acquaintances, secured among the large patronage of the house.

They carry a fine stock of family and staple groceries, confectionery, cigars and tobacco, including a full line of glass and crockery-ware, chickens, butter and country produce— and nowhere in this section can a nicer stock be found from which to select.

These gentlemen occupy a nice storeroom, and enjoy the confidence of the community. Every attention is given their customers and they are obliging and courteous to all.

The management of this house is prosecuting in a straight-forward manner, and their trade is steadily increasing—the result of energy and enterprise—and we commend the people, where in need of groceries of any kind, by all means call on Messrs. Triplett Bros.

HARE BROTHERS.

Fresh Family Groceries, No. 17 South Main Street.

Those branches of trade which are more especially related to home and table comforts, bring into requisition the shrewdest ability to meet the strong competition with which it must contend. These qualifications are apparent, at the same time energetic business management, associated in the transactions of Messrs. Hare Bros.

In the purchase of their supplies they are careful to secure, first, the best grade of goods for their trade; and second, to secure from good and reliable sources, upon such terms as will enable them to give to their numerous patrons, the advantage of the choicest and most desirable goods in the city at the lowest prices.

The premises occupied by these gentlemen are conveniently located at No. 17 South Main street, and they make a specialty of selling fresh vegetables from the large country farms every morning. including butter, chickens, eggs, and in this particular line they have to offer something choice on all occasions, including every article belonging to the family grocery business.

The three Hare Brothers are progeny of "Tar Heel" flesh and blood, and individually, and as a firm, represent our best citizens. Personally, these gentlemen are polite and obliging, coupled with unimpeachable methods of conducting all business affairs, justly meriting the large trade of which they are recipients, and are highly regarded by their many patrons and acquaintances.

THE STEVENSON HOUSE,

Transient and Regular Board, southwest corner Patton Avenue and Church Street, Mrs. S. Stevenson, Proprietress.

The boarding accommodations of Asheville are superior to cities of much larger population, and in this connection we desire to call the attention of our many readers to the well known house conducted by Mrs. Stevenson, southwest corner Patton Avenue and Church street, within easy access to the postoffice, Court house, theatre, &c. Electric cars from the depot and all other sections of the city pass the doors; hence it is at once seen that the location is a very favorable one. It is a well built structure, containing about twenty large and light bed-rooms, hall and dining room, and, in fact, everything that would tend to the benefit and comfort of the

The proprietress, Mrs. S. Stevenson, a lady of long practical experience, and well worthy of the large measure of regard in which she is held, together with the heavy show of public patronage she enjoys.

The table here is at all times laden with fresh and wholesome edibles, which are cooked and served in a careful manner, and the guests are attended to with politeness and promptness by the waiters.

The rates of this house are: Transient, $1 per day, and $5 to $7 per week, according to location of room; and those sojourning in this city will do well to call and register at the Stevenson House.

H. T. SCOTT,

Hatter and Tailor, Cleaning, Dyeing and Repairing, Patton Avenue and Water Street, under Fulenweider Bros.' Shoe Store.

Among the factors that form a part of the immense whole of the industries of a city, and an establishment of prominence and one deserving of mention in our business review, is that of H. T. Scott, who recently established himself in Asheville, and since that time has enjoyed a growing and profitable trade. He makes a specialty of cleaning and remodelling ladies' and gentlemen's hats, clothing, kid gloves, ribbons and kid shoes, and work of every description in this branch of mercantile industry, having every facility for doing such work in the latest and most improved methods. He is not surpassed in the excellence of his work, while he also handles a fine assortment of hats and caps.

Mr. Scott is a gentleman of strict business ability, and his representations can wholly be relied upon. His trade is steadily increasing, and gentlemen needing silk hats ironed and polished up will secure satisfactory work from this house.

Mr. Scott is a native of North Carolina, and is a gentleman of obliging and courteous training. Parties desiring work from a distance can send such per express, in which case charges for same will be allowed.

M. ELLICK,

Taxidermist and Manufacturer of Fancy Fur Goods, and Buyer of Raw Fur.

There are few persons for whom taxidermy has not a decided charm, presenting, as it does, the rarest specimens of animal life. Among the popular taxidermists of this section is Mr. M. Ellick, whose card we give this prominence,

Mr. Ellick is a native of Germany, and a graduate of the College of Taxidermy in the city of Shreem, (Province of Poson). This gentleman has had, in addition to a full apprenticeship to the trade, the advantage of twenty years' practical experience in the profession, and has resided in Asheville for the past six or eight years, during which time he has uninterruptedly followed his present business.

He occupies a roomy building, and carries the finest line of furs, mounted heads, antlers and mineral specimens ever seen in the city.

His line of native birds, animals, &c., is very complete. Mr. Ellick does an excellent business, and his work warrants the attention of all lovers of this art. He makes a specialty of mounting pet animals in life-like manner, guaranteeing in every case life-like pose.

He personally superintends this business, and the rarest specimens of animals are produced, if in good condition, at fair prices; and his work is as represented in every case. Also, old fur garments worked over, so they look like new.

W. TURNER,

Dry Goods, Notions, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, Groceries, and Country Produce a specialty. No. 315 Haywood Street, West end.

Without fear of contradiction in a general write up of Asheville's representative business men and an establishment deserving of prominent mention, is the general merchandise house of Mr. Turner, who is an old and reliable merchant, formerly of London, England, who has catered to a class of appreciative patrons of the west end for the past two years, and there is no firm whose career has been more prosperous than this dealer.

His line embraces a carefully selected stock of dry goods, notions, boots, shoes, clothing and gentlemen's furnishing goods, with every article belonging to this line of mercantile industry.

This storeroom is neatly fitted up, being well adapted to the trade in which he is pursuing.

His location being also somewhat distant from the centre of Asheville's main business portion incurs less expense in the matter of rents, &c., which gain is invariably bestowed upon his numerous patrons, and at prices that would be difficult to duplicate anywhere in the city.

Mr. Turner gives employment to several clerks, displaying throughout a vast amount of energy, enterprise and business ability, never forgetting to be truly successful, equity must characterize all dealings by understanding fully how to conduct a paying business.

This firm continues to enjoy an increasing patronage, and the business of the present year will double that of its predecessors, and its condition meets the expectation of a large number of friends and well-wishers of high standing.

In addition to a large trade in the dry goods line, he deals largely in country produce and provisions of all kinds to meet the wants of many of our most prominent citizens, whose requirements he fully understands. In fact the entire departments are complete, and in commercial circles this firm is recognized by an esteemed constituency for his commendable and auspicious mode of transacting business, manifesting at all times kind, and the most courteous treatment, to all.

JAMES WOLFE.

Fresh Meats and Provisions, No. 260 Patton Avenue.

Including the prominent and pioneer leaders in this line of mercantile trade, none takes precedence of Mr. Wolfe, who is an old and experienced man in the meat and provision business and has long been identified in the commercial circles of this city as a gentleman of fair and honorable dealings with his numerous patrons and acquaintances.

This gentleman occupies convenient quarters at 260 Patton Avenue, and keeps continually on hand all the fresh meat required by a fastidious public.

We noticed his large and splendid air-tight refrigerator, which insures, at all times, well-preserved meats of the most desirable class.

Mr. Wolfe is a native of "Key Stone" State, and is well known in this city, an experienced caterer of large ability and is heartily supported by remunerative patronage and steadily increasing trade.

ROBERT H. LEE & CO..

House Painters, and also make a Specialty of Putting in Plate Glass Fronts, No. 83 Bailey Street.

It has been our constant care in this work to speak of individuals, firms and enterprises strictly upon their merits; hence, it is with pleasure we call attention to the vocations of the gentlemen whose card forms the subject of our editorial.

In a growing city like Asheville this is an enterprise that commands the attention of a large number of people, who contemplate improvements in beautifying their houses and adding to the attractiveness of their business premises.

There is no branch of mercantile progress in which is represented such a field for natural ability and adaptability as in the house painter and decorator. Messrs. R. H. Lee & Co., whose premises are located at 83 Bailey street, carry constantly on hand the usual equipage for the conduct of this line of trade.

The gentlemen comprising this firm are Messrs. Robert H. Lee, a native of South Carolina, who has managerial charge of the business, while P. J. Perkinson, of this State, is a gentleman of long experience in this line.

The inception of this business took place about five years ago, during which time, by close attention to business and a fair dealing to all, these gentlemen have won the confidence and favor of a large circle of patrons and friends. As an evidence of the superiority of this firm's work, we call attention to the elegant finish of the Pack residence, also Judge Moore's new residence and the Battery Park Hotel.

Personally, these gentlemen are courteous and pleasant, and with long experience and a thorough knowledge of the complexities of this line of work, they justly merit the large patronage and confidence they receive.

THE J. B. COLE.

FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOPS, Butterick, near terminus Patton Avenue.

There is no class of business houses that constitute a more important and valuable branch of our commercial establishments than the manufactories. A prominent industry in this line is J. B. Cole's Foundry and Machine Shops, located on Butterick street, near terminus of Patton avenue. At these works are done all kinds of iron and brass castings, turning and all kinds of machine work, repairing of all kinds of farming and factory machinery, and for this purpose a number of skilled and competent workmen are employed. Mr. Cole is also agent for new and second hand engines and all kinds of machinery, and manufactures saw mills, cane mills, gudgeons, sash weights and casting of every description.

Mr. Cole is a native of Buncombe County, and has been engaged in the above business seventeen years, which has steadily increased until his house is known throughout a large territory. He is a gentleman of extended experience and ability, and possess superior facilities for the execution of this work, and is prepared to offer special accommodations to all those who patronize this business, as the proprietor is a courteous gentleman, and is highly regarded in commercial circles.

T. W. NORVILL,

Manufacturer of Fine Boots and Shoes, 18 Patton Avenue.

In a review of the mammoth enterprises summed up in this growing city we must not fail to pay tribute to those of lesser magnitude which form a part of the progress of this "Gem City of the Mountains." Mr. T. W. Norvill, a representative business man of this city, is entitled to mention, and it is with pleasure we direct your attention to the vocation which has employed his well directed efforts for the past twenty years. This gentleman has been engaged in the manufacture of boots and shoes in this city for the past 18 years, and has established himself well in the confidence of the entire community, and by fair and honorable dealing has succeeded in building up a lucrative trade. He served his apprenticeship in Knoxville, Tenn., and has been a resident of this city since 1872. His shop is located in Fulenweider & Bro's shoe store, 18 Patton avenue, contains all necessary convenience for doing business in his line, and he is worthy of popular favor and encouragement.

He makes a specialty of fine shoemaking and also does all kind of repairing quickly and satisfactory to all patrons.

Personally Mr. Norvill has a host of friends, and is much admired as a skillful workman.

J. H. WOODY & CO.,

Dealers in Carriages and Harness, No. 68 South Main. Telephone
Call No. 7.

The wonderful growth in this city in the last decade is in a measure without a parallel in the history of the advancing South, and within her gates are some establishments that have made equal strides with her in this unparalleled growth. Among the foremost of these is the establishment whose card forms the caption of this article.

For some time past these gentlemen have been engaged in this business, and are fast establishing a trade which is worthy of more than passing notice, because the manufacture and sale of Carriages, Harness and Saddlery have become essentially an important factor in the commercial aggregate of a city's business, and in Asheville we find a number of enterprising firms engaged in this line.

The premises occupied by Messrs. Woody & Co., are at 68 South Main, and they carry constantly in stock all the latest styles and designs in carriage harness and saddlery and represent some of the largest manufactories in the West, and this is probably one of the most desirable places in Asheville to visit when contemplating a purchase of anything in this line.

These gentlemen have long been identified with Asheville's progress, and none are more worthy a liberal patronage than Woody & Co.

The firm is composed of J. H. Woody and F. Stikeleather. The latter named gentleman is also manager of the Asheville Transfer and Livery Company, with office at 68 South Main, and in this line is prepared to meet all requirements in the matter of stylish rigs and fashionable riding horses, together with prompt attention to baggage and parcel transfer to any part of the city. Personally these gentlemen in trade and social circles are liberal and popular, and individually are respected by a large number of friends and citizens.

"MARBLE HALL,"

Hammershlag & Whittlock, Propr's, 32 South Main Street.

The most conspicuous sign, and one beyond a possibility calculated to attract unusual attention, is that of "Marble Hall," proclaiming strictly and metaphorically not a "dream," but a realization of startling truths, which include the leading haberdashers of this metropolis.

By reference to this popular establishment we recall to beautiful memory the enchanting operatic air by Monsieur F. Beyer, "I dreamed I dwelt in Marble Halls," &c.; hence it must needs be if those were pleasant inspirations, we can readily comprehend how interesting it would be to find one's self in a genuine marble hall and veritable clothing palace, surrounded by all the elegant and fashionable raiment and such requisites known to this cultured and progressive age. Accordingly as the man who works must eat, so also must he be clothed. The outer man this day and time constitutes, in many cases, something greater than the inner man; and truly ample provision for such has been made him in Asheville. The clothing firms of this splendid city forms a solid and substantial part of its business population. Our clothiers are men of wealth and influence, and of thorough acquaintance with their business.

Prominent among the leading retail establishments should be mentioned Messrs. Hammershlag & Whittlock. These gentlemen carry continually in stock at their attractive establishment a full line of clothing, in the prevailing styles. In addition they carry gentlemen's furnishing goods, which line is conspicuous for its tasteful and fashionable assortment, and also make a specialty of the the latest shapes and styles of hats and caps.

This firm employs several courteous gentlemen of wide experience to wait upon their numerous customers. This is one of the most successful of our mercantile establishments, and fully deserves the patronage of a discriminating and fastidious public. It is a pleasant place to trade, and while all the gentlemen are courteous, they never try to force one to buy. This firm made its inception about a year ago, whose members are Messrs. Hammershlag, a prosperous merchant of this city, and Adolph Whittlock, lately of Richmond, Va.

Personally, these gentlemen are thorough going business men, and highly regarded in the commercial world.

THE ASHEVILLE PRESS.

In no other country is the newspaper so widely circulated as in the United States. To the large portion of business men it constitutes the greater portion of the matutinal meal, and in many families it forms the only literature accessible to them. This extensive patronage places a responsibility upon the publisher and editor, which cannot be easily expressed in words, for the newspaper, controlling as it does the power to yield its influence for right or for wrong, may for the time sway the multitudes to either extreme. Its influence in moulding the popular thought and fearless discussions of public questions have made it a powerful factor in the civilization of a nation, and being perfectly untrammelled in its utterances, it may discuss with the greatest freedom questions involving the gravest issues and matters pertaining to the civil, the religious or the political world.

Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the American press is that, with its unrestricted right of free speech, it does not abuse the power accorded it, but, on the contrary, uses this mighty influence in advocating the right and in disseminating its opinions in the good and honest government for the people without fear or prejudice.

Asheville is extremely fortunate in having a daily press, of whose influence is thrown in the upbuilding of the city and the elevation of its citizens.

The Daily Citizen, four pages, and Weekly, eight pages, is the leading newspaper of Western North Carolina. Democratic always. It covers the news of its field thoroughly, and comments on it freely and vigorously as the oldest paper in its section. The Daily Citizen enjoys a patronage accorded to no other paper, while the Weekly's circulation is constantly growing.

The Evening Journal, a spicy and newsy daily, devoted to local interests and the upbuilding of Western North Carolina. Edited and published by Messrs. Clegg & Donohue.

The Democrat, a large eight-page weekly, by Messrs. R. M. Furman and David M. Vance.

The Asheville Baptist Weekly, Rev. E. A. Brown, business manager.

The Asheville Methodist, Rev. J. F. Austin.

The Lyceum, monthly, Tilman R. Gaines, 73 North Main.

The Country Homes, monthly, Messrs. Tomlinson.

The Farmer and Mechanic, weekly, Messrs. Stansill & Morris.

The Medical Journal, monthly, Drs. Taylor and Merriweather.

The "Carolina" Saloon,
19 North Main St.,
FRANK O'DONNELL,
Proprietor.

In reviewing the business industries of Asheville we find there exists a class of houses in every way prepared to compete in the several lines they represent with other houses of greater cities throughout the South. The splendid stock, superior resources and excellent commercial standing is a pride to the citizens of this city.

A house wherein the proprietor has a natural aptitude and taste for his particular line, is that conducted by Mr. Frank O'Donnell, 19 North Main, hence we find that it is particularly requisite to compile historic mention of the representative houses in each department of trade, thus demonstrating the importance of the City of Asheville, and furthermore, the source of his supply.

The establishment occupied by this gentleman contains one of the largest stocks carried by any firm in a similar line in this section, and we might add, embraces contributions of the "mellowest and oldest treasures for man," from the vineyards of every sunny land under every sunny sky.

The appointments and equipage of these wine rooms are in every sense first-class, having lately been beautified in the manner of attractive and expensive fixtures, and generally improved with everything appropriately selected to this line, which ranks it now among the foremost establishments of the "Future City," making a specialty of Burk's Irish Whiskey, directly imported by Mr. O'Donnell. The high quality of this article is well suited to the keen taste of the connoisseur and all lovers of an article rich in flavor and aroma.

Mr. O'Donnell, prior to a few weeks ago, had been for some time past sojourning with his family in Europe, combining business with pleasure. During his absence the business was under the eye of Mr. Patrick McIntire, a competent young man of business ability, who is still with him.

Mr. O'Donnell is a native of County Donegal, Ireland, while the inception the of "Carolina" dates back to 1887, and since his residence in this City Mr. O'Donnell has been an active foreman of the Rescue Hook and Ladder Co. of this City, and in many roles has played the part of a prosperous business man. Personally he is of a congenial temperament, and deserving in a large measure the success so liberally accorded him.

"Life is a breath:
 Darkness bringeth death:
 Keep, while we may,
 Care away."

EXPLANATORY.

In the political domain we are just upon the brink of a complete transformation scene—hence statistics concerning the present year's municipal and governmental reign would prove as inert information, consequently we are unable to furnish with this publication anything that would be of practical value to our patrons and readers.

The officers elected by the people of the City of Asheville and the County of Buncombe have exhibited in the past administration of its affairs much ability and enterprise, and with the advent of a new régime we wish the succeeding power much success in their new field and a continuation in the up-building of a city, which in the past few years has made such rapid strides in this age of modern progress and improvement.
